Need Youths of 18; U.S. Army to Grow To 7,500,000 Men

WASHINGTON (AP)—War Secretary Henry Stimson, arguing for the draft of 18 and 19-year-olds, estimated today the United States army now has 4,250,000 men, and next year will increase to 7,500,000.

He gave this breakdown of 1943's army needs to the House of Representatives military committee:

Air force, 2,200,000.
Organized ground units, 3,300,000.
Service of supply and related duties, 2,000,000.

The Secretary told the committee the U.S. wants to have in 1943 "the largest air force with sustaining units... which production and transportation will permit."

His figure of 2,200,000 in the air forces he described as "a conservative estimate," adding that any changes will be upward.

The army, he said, is training and will continue to train as many ground units as can be sent overseas.

Stimson estimated the ground forces needs for 1943, including those now abroad and in training at home to go overseas, at 3,300,000.

Himmler in Rome Checks Up on Duce As Tension Grows

NEW YORK (AP)—Berlin announced today that Heinrich Himmler, chief of Hitler's Gestapo, "is in Rome for a private visit as guest of the Fascist government," but reports of German-Italian friction, current in neutral European capitals, suggested it might be more than a social call.

These reports indicated strongly that German suspicion of Italy's attitude toward the United States was a source of trouble.

The suggestion that recent Italian-American developments figured in the reported rift between the European Axis partners came from the Stockholm correspondent of the National Zeitung of Basel, Switzerland.

He quoted the Stockholm Dagens Nyheter as reporting the differences were accentuated by Italian permission for Myron C. Taylor's plane to land at Rome when the special envoy of President Roosevelt was on his way recently to Vatican City for conferences with the Pope, and by developments in the treatment of Italians in the United States.

EASIER TREATMENT
Mentioned specifically was the announcement by United States Attorney-General Francis Biddle that effective Oct. 19, Italians in the United States no longer would be under restrictions as enemy aliens.

The Basel National Zeitung's correspondent in Istanbul reported rumors current in Turkey that the Himmler-Mussolini meeting might be followed soon by another conference of Hitler and Mussolini.

Adding tinder to the situation was the quite obvious failure of Italian occupation forces to throttle anti-Axis outbreaks in Italian-occupied territory—particularly dismembered Yugoslavia recently, and that the German action was prompted largely by dissatisfaction with Italy's handling of the problem.

These sources said there was a growing difference, too, between the Axis partners over control of Yugoslav territory.

IMPRISONED BY HITLER?—Nazi Field Marshal von Bock, who formerly commanded the German army in its attack on Stalingrad.

London (CP)—Reuters news agency said today that Tass, the Russian news agency, had issued a dispatch in Moscow, under a Geneva dateline, reporting that several German generals and chiefs of motorized infantry corps have been removed and also cited a Tass report that Field Marshal Fedor von Bock has been placed under arrest.

Ottawa Receives List of Canadians Held at Hongkong

OTTAWA (CP)—The Department of National Defence announced today that a list of Canadian soldiers taken prisoner at Hongkong now is being transmitted from Tokyo through the International Red Cross.

A departmental spokesman said it was anticipated the list of prisoners would be made public in sections, as soon as the next of kin were notified and that the first section might be issued within a couple of days.

GRENADIERS FIRST

"So far," the department said, "only 316 names of officers and other ranks of the Winnipeg Grenadiers have been received, but the Canadian government has requested the International Red Cross to do all in their power to hasten the forwarding by cable of the complete list of all Canadian prisoners of war held by the Japanese."

The government, through the Red Cross, has been pressing for the delivery of an official list of prisoners by the Japanese for nearly 10 months, since the fighting at Hongkong ceased and the men were taken prisoner.

Under the international convention governing treatment of prisoners of war, the power-holding prisoners is obliged to report the names of the prisoners within a certain period of time, but Japan is not a party to the convention.

CANADA PROTESTS

The government hoped the list would be sent on the diplomatic exchange ship which brought out Canadian, British and United States diplomatic officials from Japan. When it did not arrive Canada transmitted a protest through the International Red Cross.

Unofficial reports from persons who escaped from Hongkong have given the names of some men who are prisoners and the most authentic information so far received came in the form of letters from the men brought out by the diplomatic exchange ship.

Winnipeg Pilot Gave Life for Others

LONDON (CP)—Sgt. Norman Mackenzie of Winnipeg today was identified by R.C.A.F. headquarters as the pilot of a Halifax bomber who gave his life recently in an attempt to save his crewmates by keeping his burning bomber on a steady course while they jumped to safety.

Four of the crew of seven were able to bail out before the plane crashed in flames. They were returning from a raid when the port outer engine caught fire.

Sgt. Jim Alexander of Nanaimo, B.C., was among those who parachuted to safety.

U.S. Navy Lists Wins

Another Jap Cruiser Sunk Off Solomons

WASHINGTON (AP)—Favoring submarines have sunk another heavy Japanese cruiser, the United States navy announced today in a communique adding the western Pacific to the area in which Allied sea and air power have lately been pummeling the enemy.

The western Pacific undersea activity, which also included the sinking of a medium-sized cargo ship, a small cargo ship, a small tanker and a small trawler, the probable sinking of a medium-sized cargo vessel and the damaging of two tankers, brought to 123 the total announced toll of Japanese ships sunk or damaged by U.S. submarines.

THE SUMMARY

Other communique from the fronts gave this picture of United States and Allied successes, based on overnight reports:
Solomon Islands—A heavy cruiser, four destroyers and a transport sunk; another destroyer probably sunk; three cruisers torpedoed and bombed, one severely; eight bombers, four fighter planes and three seaplanes destroyed.

Aleutian Islands—Japanese ships, camps and hangars at Kiska, the invaders' lone remaining foothold, blasted by aerial bombs and burned by incendiaries. Resistance was relatively weak.

New Guinea—Enemy ground forces pushed back in the Owen Stanley Mountains toward their Kokoda base by Allied troops, while heavy bombers dropped 1,000-pound explosives on the Japanese air base at Rabaul, New Britain. Aircraft on the ground were smashed by direct hits.

The U.S. forces, the navy reported, lost a destroyer and two fighter planes in the Solomons. All American and Allied bombers returned from the Aleutian and New Britain raids, although some suffered minor damage.

R.C.A.F. planes have aided American forces in recent weeks in the Aleutians, "but the navy communique covering this phase of the Pacific battles do not mention whether Canadian fliers took part in the latest announced action."

Japan's losses as disclosed by navy communique Tuesday and Tuesday night, pushed her total Solomon Islands toll to 260 destroyed planes, eight vessels sunk, three probably sunk and 37 damaged. The announced American total was 10 lost ships.

German Salient Tightly Hemmed; Batteries Duel

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW (AP)—The blunted German salient reaching toward the Volga was hemmed in more tightly today by new Russian gains northwest and south of Stalingrad, and battlefield dispatches reported that even in the debris-strewn streets of the city Red army counterattacks had rolled the Nazis back.

Thus on the 51st day of Stalingrad's siege Hitler's mightiest 1942 onslaught appeared to have lost momentum, with barely another month until the present biting chill of autumn on the steppes gives way to the second winter of the war in Russia.

Aside from the sharp street battles in which Stalingrad's defenders reclaimed positions, the fight for "winter shelter" in the ruins of the city was reverting to artillery duelling.

Regain Positions Lost Monday

Exchange of shells and mortar grenades developed after Red army counterattacks had regained positions lost before a short-lived German infantry drive Monday, the Russians said.

"Our artillery destroyed two guns, seven mortars and 11 trucks and wiped out about a battalion of German infantry," the noon communique announced in one of two paragraphs it devoted to the Stalingrad struggle.

The army newspaper Red Star said Russian troops advanced in two sectors on the steppes northwest of the city. It reported there were frequent local encounters in separate areas.

A Pravda dispatch declared the Germans also had been thrown back in a salient south of the city, and that advancing Russian troops seized a basic point in the German lines and held it against counterattacks.

Red Army tank forces, following up an attack which folded back advanced enemy lines on the German flank northwest of the city, were reported to have killed about 300 Hitlerites, destroyed four guns, eight mortars, 20 machine-guns and several trucks with supplies.

22 Russian Snipers Kill 323 Germans

The communique said 22 snipers of one Russian detachment killed 323 Germans in two weeks of this battle.

Mass attacks generally gave way again to artillery and mortar duelling in the struggle to decide whether Axis or Soviet troops will winter in the ruins. Frost whitened the breaths of the soldiers in the lengthening siege which started in August's heat.

Russian marines were cited for two actions in the battle of the western Caucasus, one a raid by a landing party against a German-occupied town on the Black Sea coast.

The noon communique said the marine detachment, moved to the shore in motor launches, wiped out a squadron of German cavalry, blew up an ammunition dump, destroyed a radio station and returned to its base without losses.

Other marines improved their positions southeast of Novorossick following the repulse of an Axis attack.

Red-Army men fighting in the same area were threatened by numerically superior enemy forces which penetrated to their rear, but counterattacked, cut off the force from the main Axis body and, using their advantageous positions, killed about 400 Hitlerites, it was reported.

5,000 Per Month Plane Mark Nears

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce reported today that the aircraft industry "has been pressing toward the 5,000" monthly production rate asked for by President Roosevelt after passing a rate of 4,000 a month in May.

Between Dec. 7 and Oct. 1, the period the United States has been at war, the chamber said a greater number of aircraft had been turned out than were produced during the entire 16-year period prior to the Japanese attack.

More than $4,000,000,000 worth of airplanes, engines and propellers will be produced during 1942, the organization forecast, and said there was a huge increase in the number of heavy, long-range aircraft.

The chamber added that "there are more than a score of new types of warplanes now undergoing tests and check-ups."

Bag 2 Nazi Planes

CAIRO (AP)—Twelve United States fighter planes fought 20 Messerschmitts over the German lines Tuesday and shot down two, a statement from U.S. army headquarters said today.

A third German plane was damaged and the rest forced to disperse, the statement said.

Although American heavy and medium bombers have played an active role in this theatre for several months, this was described as the first important combat for U.S. fighters.

Isley Appeals To All Canadians To Support Loan

TORONTO (CP)—The need for support of Canada's Third Victory Loan from everyone in Canada was stressed today by Hon. J. L. Isley, federal Minister of Finance, in an address before combined service clubs here.

"The magnitude of the undertaking is so great that it cannot succeed without support from all parts of the nation and all groups in the nation," he said.

Substantial subscriptions must be expected from the well-to-do and from the middle class, Mr. Isley said. It is "getting progressively more difficult for them to subscribe" but it "is getting more difficult, or less necessary, to spend money in other ways."

"Victory Loan subscriptions on top of taxes will not only help the nation to carry on the war—they will help us to force ourselves to live as we should in wartime."

"However much we obtain from business and the well-to-do," Mr. Isley said, "we must rely for a great deal of our requirements upon savings by wage earners, and now by farmers. This is not only highly desirable as a matter of social policy—it is essential as a matter of arithmetic. We need so much of the national income now for war purposes—passing through the treasury—that all the incomes of the rich, all the profits and savings that business can make, will by no means meet our requirements."

"We must persuade the working men and women of this nation—who are naturally receiving a large and growing share of its income as employment expands—to save a large portion of their earnings now so that they may spend them after the war, or retain them as security."

Coldwell Opposes Reprisal Shackling

OTTAWA (CP)—M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, in a statement here expressed regret that British and Canadian governments "felt it necessary to institute reprisals" against German prisoners of war because the Germans had ordered British prisoners shackled.

"I regret," said Mr. Coldwell, "the British and Canadian governments have felt it necessary to institute reprisals against German prisoners of war in answer to Hitler's barbarism in manning our prisoners of war in Germany. Every one of us was shocked and enraged at this fresh evidence of wanton Nazi cruelty. The first, and perhaps entirely natural, reaction was a desire to give them a taste of their own medicine. I believe, however, this will not achieve the desired results and for two reasons:

"Firstly, it is possible for us to try to compete with Hitler in barbarism and cruelty? This is a moral and political war as well as a military one. We should not do anything to weaken the high moral position of the United Nations, for it is upon this ground that we can make our strongest appeal to the people dominated by the aggressors."

"Secondly, may we not be jeopardizing more and more of our men by this action? There is little doubt but that Hitler's answer will be further acts of cruelty against our boys. As everyone knows, there are far more British, Canadian, New Zealand and Australian soldiers in German camps than there are German prisoners in our hands."

"There is, in my view, only one form of reprisal against Hitler which will be effective and that is an all-out Allied offensive against him. Naturally the time and place of that offensive must be settled by those who know the facts, but all of us should redouble our efforts to make the United Nations ever more powerful so that the offensive may be launched as soon as possible."

British Cabinet Hears Smuts' Views

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister J. C. Smuts of South Africa attended a meeting of the war cabinet today after spending the morning in conference at South Africa House.

It was the second meeting of the war cabinet attended by the Prime Minister, whose arrival in Britain was announced by the Dominions Office Tuesday night. He is expected to stay in Britain more than a week.

He told the press the war has reached a stage where "a careful review of the course before us" is called for.

"What little I can contribute will be most gladly given," he said.

"Africa is emerging more and more as the dominant feature in our war strategy," he added.

Eugene Olive Moore, U.S.M.C., lies on his cot and relates to Under-Secretary of Navy James V. Forrestal, centre, how 65 Japs failed to kill him in action on Gavutu Island in the Solomons. Trapped in his tank, Moore was wounded by Jap hand grenades, pitchforked, knifed, beaten and left for dead; but he's recovering nicely as evident here. Others shown are Lt.-Cmdr. B. A. Japs at Kiska Quit Air Defence

By WILLIAM L. WORDEN
ALASKAN ARMY AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS (AP)—There is comforting quiet these days in the air over Kiska—a signal, Allied pilots believe, that the enemy has forsaken aerial defence of the outer Aleutian territory he seized four months ago.

Flights of heavy bombers dispatched almost daily to devastate the Japanese island positions still are bounced through the skies by anti-aircraft shells when they arrive over their targets. The enemy's ground fire, indeed, is improving in quality of aim if not in weight of guns, and many a raiding plane returns bearing the scars of battle.

But not since Oct. 3 has a single Japanese fighter risen to challenge the growing might of the Canadian-American air attack.

Six Zeros met the incoming bombers on that last day. But as they drew within firing range, American fighters swooped down out of the sun, knocked out five of the Japanese and drove the other to frantic flight.

It was the same story all during September starting from the time the U.S. army established its base on the Andreanof Islands only 250 miles from Kiska and thus made it possible for the shorter-ranged fighter planes to accompany and protect the bombers on their mission to the west.

By the month's end, the Allies had established a phenomenal 22 to 1 ratio of Japanese plane losses to their own, even though the bulk of the fighting was over enemy territory.

Since Oct. 3 the raiders occasionally have spotted a few planes scattered on the water at Kiska. None of these ever has left the surface, and the conclusion here is that they probably are damaged, useless hulks.

In the last days of their air defence, the Japanese resorted to desperate bluff. A favorite trick was for an enemy pilot to simulate a deliberate collision with an attacking bomber, hoping that, to avoid the crash, the bomber could be made to veer from its course.

The Americans soon grew wise to this strategy and refused to swerve from their bombing runs, forcing the Japanese instead to turn aside and expose themselves to heavy machine gun or cannon fire.

4,730 Canadians Dead or Missing

OTTAWA (CP)—Deaths of five members of Canada's overseas army were reported today by National Defence headquarters in the 170th army casualty list of the war. (No Vancouver Island men were included in the 170th list.)

The list raised to 4,730, an unofficial count of Canadian soldiers reported dead and missing since the war began. The figure, subject to a margin of error, includes the Hongkong force of 1,985, except for 529 known to be prisoners, and includes those who have been missing since Dieppe.

more as the dominant feature in our war strategy," he added.

He had lunch today with the King.

Gains in Pacific Can Be Maintained, Says Allied Chief

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, discussing his recent trip to the Solomon Islands battle zone, said today he is confident "we can hold what we have got and consolidate our positions and eventually start moving ahead."

The commander-in-chief of the United States Pacific Fleet said he conferred with Vice-Admiral Robert L. Ghormley, naval commander in the south Pacific, and visited Guadalcanal and other island bases.

"But I didn't see a Jap—not even a prisoner," he remarked. "I went down to the Solomon Islands area to see with my own eyes what I had been reading and hearing about. The men on Guadalcanal were in fine spirit."

"The Japs must not be underestimated. They are brave, resourceful, and for the most part experienced fighters. But they are meeting a people with those same characteristics now and suffering losses accordingly. Furthermore, the Japanese have a supply problem in the Solomons as difficult as our own."

Admiral Nimitz said the distance between Guadalcanal and Pearl Harbor is about the same as between Guadalcanal and Tokyo, and that Malaya is even more distant.

He said it is hard to determine whether the Japanese are getting much from the Netherlands East Indies to Rabaul, Japanese base on New Britain Island, but added it is "safe to say the supply problem is giving them many a headache."

Mrs. Rudolf Hess Seeks Permission To Join Husband

LONDON (CP)—Frau Ilse Hess, wife of the one-time Deputy Fuehrer of Nazi Germany, Rudolf Hess, wants to join her husband in his British internment, a report reaching the House of Commons said today.

Will Thorne, Labor, gave notice he would ask Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary: "What reply is being made to the request of Frau Hess, wife of Rudolf Hess who is now somewhere in England, for permission to join her husband?"

The question did not state where Frau Hess is now living. (Little is known of Frau Hess' movements since her husband left Germany in a Messerschmitt plane May 10, 1941, and landed in Scotland, presumably in an effort to negotiate a peace between Britain and Germany or to invite Britain to join in a war on Russia.)

(After Hess' flight she was reported to have gone to Italy and, later, to Switzerland, but these reports apparently were not true. She was seen in Berlin a week after Hess had left.)

(A brunette, mannish-dressed woman, she always shunned the social events which attracted the wives of other leaders in the Nazi hierarchy, and spent much time in her Munich home, caring for her only child, five-year-old Ruediger Hess.)

C.P. Man Visits Canada's Airmen, Soldiers in Alaska

By EDWIN JOHNSON
Canadian Press War Correspondent

WITH THE CANADIAN FORCES IN ALASKA (CP)—Front-line vigilance involving a state of almost continuous alert is the order of the day for Canada's expeditionary force in Alaska and detachments manning the chain of defensive outposts along the vulnerable Pacific northwest coastline.

So far direct action has been confined to the navy and the men of the R.C.A.F. whose wide-ranging bomber and fighter squadrons already have been credited with downing a Jap raider off the Aleutians and aiding in the destruction of an enemy submarine. But while other branches of the fighting forces have not yet heard an attacker's guns, they are clamoring for action.

THIS enthusiasm of the Canadians was evident among all ranks at every station I visited during a behind-the-scenes tour of the Alaskan and west coast operational areas.

Only a few hours after the amphibian plane in which we traveled had settled down on the runway of one of the Canadian-manned posts in Alaska, a general alert was sounded. Immediately the entire camp galvanized into action. Guns were loaded, infantry hustled off to their positions of readiness, while air crew adjusted their flying equipment as they rushed to their briefing posts. Within minutes the squadron dropped off towards the sea and was quickly lost in the haze.

FOUND NO ENEMY—First to return from the patrol about an hour later were FO. J. Johnstone of New York City, WO. H. G. Dickson of Truro, N.S., FO. A. E. Studholme and PO. W. N. Stowe, both from Toronto. Neither their flight nor the others that went out could find any trace of an intruder.

Such alerts are referred to as "scrambles" by the airmen, but, belying the term, they are the essence of efficient, co-ordinated action. Behind the aerial striking force are the anti-aircraft and artillery gunners ceaselessly scanning the skies and land approaches. Infantrymen stand guard at strategic points while others proceed with the task of consolidating strong points or putting up new defences. All concerned realize the next "scramble" may be the real thing and they don't intend to be caught napping.

B.C. Conciliation Act Attacked

VANCOUVER (CP)—Questioning legality of the provincial Industrial Conciliation Act, C. L. McAlpine, counsel for the Boundary Road shingle mill operated by Bloedel, Stewart and Welch, announced at a sitting of an arbitration board that he would apply for a B.C. Supreme Court injunction to determine whether the board has power to deal with the dispute.

Sittings of the board, headed by Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson, were adjourned indefinitely after Mr. McAlpine had made his announcement Tuesday. The board was appointed to arbitrate a dispute between the company and the International Woodworkers' Association, which seeks to establish its right to bargain collectively for a majority of mill employees.

Mr. McAlpine argued that the provincial statute empowered the board to deal with disputes between employees and management. He said the dispute under review was between management and the I.W.A., and therefore lay outside the scope of the board.

Harvesting Sugar Beets

WINNIPEG (CP)—C. L. Taylor, agricultural superintendent of the Manitoba Sugar Company, said here the province's 130,000-ton sugar beet crop will be completely harvested in another two weeks' time providing the favorable weather continues. He said better than one-third of the crop had been delivered to the sugar mill already.

longer would be under restrictions as enemy aliens. The Istanbul correspondent said that a new meeting of Hitler and Mussolini was expected soon, and that rumors had been heard, in Turkey, that Germany wanted to take over full control of Trieste.

Shed No Light On Vallin's Visit

By DOUGLAS AMARON

LONDON (CP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden diplomatically evaded extensive answers when members of Parliament questioned him about the presence in Britain of Charles Vallin, vice-president of the Croix de Feu, French Socialist Party.

The arrival here from France of the former Paris right wing deputy raised diplomatic and political issues that go right to the root of the war itself.

Did M. Vallin come here as a representative of the Croix de Feu, which, despite the French politician's denial, the British press still calls a Fascist organization, and if so, would Eden approve his presence and activities, asked Prof. D. L. Savory, Conservative member for Belfast University.

To what extent did the British government provide facilities for or approval of Vallin's coming to this country, and did he come to represent the Croix de Feu point of view in the Fighting French movement, Ivor Thomas, Keighley Labor member, wanted to know.

CONSULTATION

To these questions Mr. Eden replied it would not be in the public interest to make any statement regarding Vallin's journey to this country. He was among a number of French personalities with whom the French National Committee had, it seemed, desired to consult.

In some sections of the press and among certain members of Parliament his presence here was not received as cordially as that of other Frenchmen who escaped to Britain. Trade unionists and leftists, both French and British, also questioned Vallin's presence here.

Soon after it became evident he was not welcome at all: the Fighting French announced Vallin would be sent on a mission to French troops at Fort Lamy in French equatorial Africa.

Vallin in his own eyes is a convert. Soon after his arrival Vallin, in a press statement, vigorously defended the Croix de Feu, denying it was Fascist and saying that it only wanted to reform the constitution of France.

British Commons Extends Life 1 Year

LONDON (CP)—The House of Commons voted overwhelmingly Tuesday to continue the British and Northern Ireland parliaments for another year.

The United Kingdom Parliament was elected in 1935, but its life has been prolonged year-by-year since early in the war. The normal term of a Parliament is five years.

John McGovern, Scottish Independent Labor member, tried unsuccessfully to urge a parliamentary election in Northern Ireland where, he said, a Nazi-like tyranny is operating against the minorities.

"Unionists (Conservatives) have told me the Ulster government should be purged of certain elements," Mr. McGovern said. "Three or four hundred people are interned—some without charge or trial for over five years—and many believe they are prisoners because of malicious and political intolerance."

Wage Request Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States War Labor Board has rejected a request of 115,000 employees of the Ford Motor Company for a wage increase of 12½ cents an hour.

Letters to the Editor

A QUICK GLIMPSE?

Aviators have said it is easy to look down an open chimney top and see the red glow from an open fireplace, or see the red glow from a factory chimney and then quickly drop a flare and light up the vicinity, at least temporarily—and perhaps start a fire on a roof which would light up surrounding buildings. The coast line lit up by searchlights would also show the location of the city.

Evidently much more knowledge and thought are required for this situation.

POSTWAR PLANNING

Congratulations on your editorial of Oct. 5 approving the views of the Archbishop of Canterbury and his right to express them. For to deny the clergy the right to take part in political and economic reform, as some people would like to do, is surely the supremacy of gail. Would they condemn the prophets of ancient Israel, who were the great preachers against misgovernment, selfishness and greed, and who called for truth, justice and mercy, which our Lord described as "the weightiest matters of the law."

It is encouraging to see so much space in the papers given to postwar planning, notably in your paper and in Saturday Night of Toronto. But, unfortunately, in S.N. of Oct. 3 a ridiculous fear of the bogey of "collectivism" appears in its articles and letters. One would suppose collectivism could only come from the government. As a matter of fact we have been living in an age of collectivism that has had nothing to do with government. Associations, lodges, clubs, unions, societies have multiplied to such an extent that there was hardly a day in the year but what one of them was holding a convention somewhere.

A little more government control would do away with the tyranny of numerous unauthorized authorities. To see that no one is shut out of the economic life of the country should be the duty of the government. For only the government has the strength to carry out that purpose. The wartime controls it is now exercising may be called collectivism; but no one will dispute the fairness of them compared to the old system that allowed the rich to buy up anything that became scarce. R. B. WINTER.

CHAINING OF WAR PRISONERS

It is certain we will get nowhere competing with the Germans in brutality. We are not in their class. By the method of reprisals, which is to revert to the primitive, we will only bring greater hardships upon our fellow-countrymen, which is just the thing we wish to avoid. They will not thank us for it afterwards, they who have dared and endured so much in our defence.

If there is to be retribution, which even the Archbishop of Canterbury admits, it must wait. To contend with the Germans in the bog of infamy is only to sink each other deeper in the mire. They will always go one worse than we will, even to personal abuse and torture. And as "the freezing shadow" of doom thickens over them it is most certain their ferocity will increase. It is the part of wisdom for us to do nothing to provide incitement in that direction. Besides it is all contrary to our traditions to take the innocent and punish them for the crimes of the guilty. That is too much of a piece with and similar to the German method with hostages.

Two wrongs never yet did make one right. We should wash our hands of this whole Hunnish business, and representations should be made at once to Ottawa to this effect.

Burns Club Entertains

An entertaining program highlighted the meeting of the Burns Club Tuesday night at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. The president, E. M. Whyte, was in the chair, and J. J. Mathieson expressed appreciation to the artists at the conclusion of the program.

Vocal selections were given by Miss Grace Adams, P.O. John Bray, R.C.N.V.R.; Sgt. Gilbert Margison, L.A.C. D. A. Collyer, R.A.F. A Scotch poem was recited by W. B. Grant, and Pipe-Maj. Donald Cameron contributed a pipe selection.

Guest speaker was Thomas Hall, who emphasized the necessity for courage during tribulation and distress, and said two things were necessary for a finer civilization—"the good earth, and man's love of man."

Gallup Poll

Canadians Not Fussy About Reviving Titles

TITLES FOR CANADIANS?

GALLUP POLL

YES 32%
NO 55%
UNDECIDED 13%

TORONTO—When it comes to titles such as lord or viscount, or to knighthoods, Canadians can take them or leave them alone—but the majority would rather leave them alone.

Approximately 55 out of every 100 adult Canadians, a Gallup Poll shows, still approve the action of the House of Commons many years ago in suggesting to the King that no more titles be conferred on citizens of this country.

Discussion on the question was revived by the fact that a committee of the House of Commons last session considered the question and recommended that Canadians be eligible for honors and decorations which do not involve titles, and that an order of limited membership be created, restricted entirely to Canadians. Services resulting from the abnormal demands of the war on citizens helped revive the discussion.

THE QUESTION

The question the Gallup Poll reporters put to the people of Canada, through citizens representative of all types and classes, was this:

"There has been some argument about whether or not Canadians should be given titles (sir, lord, viscount) for outstanding service to their country. What are your views on this?"

The views expressed by Canadians fell into the following broad groups:

Favor titles 32%
Oppose titles 55%
Undecided 13%

100%

Canadian men as a general rule are more opposed to titles than Canadian women, although more women disapprove titles than approve them, according to this survey:

Men Women
Favor titles 26% 39%
Oppose titles 62% 47%
Undecided 12% 14%

100% 100%

On a provincial basis, Manitoba and Saskatchewan appear the most opposed to titles, with more than six out of every 10 persons interviewed voting against such distinctions. The other provinces are fairly close to the national average of 55 per cent against.

No Victory Yet

TWO WEEKS AGO THE FUEHRER OF all the Germans announced in Berlin's famous 'Sportspalast' that: "We shall take Stalingrad; you may depend upon it." But he also added: "We must hold everything and wait to see who tires the soonest." Just a little more than a year ago in the same edifice, to a similarly selected audience, he shouted: "The Russian armies are so badly broken that they will never rise again."

Well, Stalingrad is still in Russian hands; the armies of the Soviet Union not only are undefeated and intact; as this is written they are on the offensive on the northwest and on the south of the badly-battered metropolis of the Volga. And 51 days have passed since the German Wehrmacht began what Adolf Hitler fondly thought would be the final drive to the coveted oilfields of the Caucasus. Only three or four weeks remain of what is left of the Russian autumn on this part of the long battle line. Already the snow is flying; and the longer nights are marked by freezing temperatures.

No longer can the Fuehrer promise the German people more lightning war. To be sure, the Panzers of 1941 rolled over a steppe land four times as large as England. Yet Russian resistance, Russian space and Russian winter shattered their myth of invincibility. This year they had advanced again, this time into Egypt and to the Volga, with another great segment of territory behind them. The Fuehrer's domain encompasses almost 2,000,000 square miles. It extends east and west 2,400 miles, from the French coast to Stalingrad's battered streets. It reaches north and south 2,900 miles from Norway's Arctic rim to Africa's desert sands. The Fuehrer's subject population numbers 350,000,000, including Germans, Italians and Axis satellites. He has won immense resources—coal, iron, manganese, copper, oil, farmlands, factories, harbors and the enforced labor of the subjected people, of whom an estimated 6,000,000 are now working in the Reich's industries. Yet, despite victory after victory, Hitler has not achieved the military decision he has promised the German people so often. And time is getting shorter.

The Late Mr. W. C. Todd

IF IT WERE NECESSARY TO RECALL a consoling fact by quotation it could be said in the words of Goldsmith that the late Mr. W. C. Todd possessed the capacity to "learn the luxury of doing good"—partly through his own benevolent instinct and partly through the generous impulses he inherited from the kindly parents who predeceased him. And if he were not personally and familiarly known to the many whose lot was made the easier by his benefactions, it was because his concept of human associations had no place for ostentation of any kind. Throughout his life, whether in business or in the relationships with the few who were privileged to know him intimately, that wholesome outlook on the day-by-day round brought him the satisfaction which comes of good deeds nobly done. The world has all too few like Mr. Todd. Victoria is much the poorer by his passing.

Fewer Doctors

EIGHT HUNDRED MORE PHYSICIANS might be provided for the armed forces of Canada by the spring of 1943. They must come from the ranks of a civilian profession already seriously depleted. To the Medical Procurement and Assignment Board at Ottawa has been delegated the duty of recruiting these medical men. At the same time, the board is expected to tackle the problem of distributing the doctors not in the army so as best to meet civilian needs.

Provincial medical societies have been asked to report on the available medical personnel and the civilian requirements of their districts. In this province, as in other parts of Canada, various outlying communities are now without doctors, due to enlistments during the last three years. In some of the larger cities medical personnel has been reduced to half, and this at a time when the health of the army of war workers assumes increasing importance. Reports show the number of industrial accidents has almost doubled since 1939, while absenteeism caused by accidents and sickness is one of the bottle necks of our war industries. Hospitals for months now have been short-staffed with doctors. Public health departments have been so reduced that in some places clinics and other activities have had to be abandoned.

The procurement board at Ottawa indicates that some plan of rationing medical services will have to be worked out. Until that is done the public is being asked to "go easy" on the doctors. A bulletin from a medical society in Toronto suggests that the question which should govern the doctor's attitude to the patient should be: "Does he need me?" rather than "Does he want me?" The bulletin also predicts that as "doctors become fewer, it will be impossible to give a patient a free choice of physician." It seems certain that "luxury" medical care is going out for the duration.

China will take new heart as she halts the end of the Treaty of Nanking; the Axis will be confounded.

Action In Egypt Near?

ALMOST EVERY DAY THE MAIN NEWS from the battle front in north Africa is confined to reports of Allied bombing raids on Axis supply bases and aerial scouting forays over the enemy's lines. Not only is this activity important in itself; it must prove to the men of Marshal Rommel's Afrika Korps that the forces of the United Nations at this stage are well equipped—both as to quantity and quality—in all departments. And if there is any point in discussing German morale, incidentally, more than three months of defensive fighting on the El Alamein front may already have taken some of the swagger out of the "super-men" from Naziland. Their prospects of getting through to the Nile Valley are growing slimmer from day to day.

Although it would be foolish to suppose that Marshal Rommel's large and well-equipped force will not try again desperately to force the issue of Alexandria, the fact remains that the Axis has failed to achieve a decision on a front which is part of Hitler's grand strategy to obtain oil. This is not only a serious blow to the Fuehrer; it also recalls bitter memories from history, and reminds him that on many occasions Germany has just missed the accomplishment of great things.

Experts have recently disclosed that Rommel launched his last offensive against the Eighth Army on bad information, that he was wrong about British dispositions, and that he was nearly caught in a nasty trap. But he wriggled out just in time—with considerable loss to his striking force in mechanized equipment. He is still reputed to be in a difficult position, and when General Alexander is ready to hit with everything he has, competent observers seem to agree that this phase of the global war may be forced to a final showdown. Unlike his predecessors, the British commander has his orders to destroy the Afrika Korps, irrespective of considerations of territory, and even without regard to cost. The result of pending action thus will be anxiously awaited.

Two on the Fence

CHILE AND ARGENTINA ARE ANNOYED because our neighbor's Acting-Secretary of State Welles criticized both countries for harboring Axis agents. The President of the first-named republic, who was to have paid a visit to Washington shortly, has canceled his trip. Under the circumstances, of course, he was wise. So far it is not clear whether the United States government intends to follow up the assertions of Mr. Welles—made in Boston last Thursday—by an official statement or a categorical charge with authenticated details. It is nevertheless understood that as soon as the formal protests were delivered by Argentina and Chile the United States notified the former that certain American credits available to the government in Buenos Aires had been canceled. Although Argentina had never taken advantage of this accommodation, their withdrawal is regarded as possibly signifying a stiffening attitude toward Argentina in view of her continued doubtful neutral status. The credits in question were with the Export-Import Bank and were designed originally to facilitate purchases in the United States.

What worried Mr. Welles was reliable information which had convinced him that numerous ship sinkings in the waters washing the shores of the Western Hemisphere had been the result of connivance of Axis agents in the two republics which stand alone in their isolationist policy toward the totalitarian nations. While Chile recently had shown signs of ending her neutrality by severing diplomatic relations with the Axis, not, perhaps to the extent of declaring war, those elements in Argentina that seem to be resolute in their determination to side with their President in his appeasing conduct evidently are not able to read anything of importance to them in the growing strength of the United Nations—or, for that matter, in the role they may find themselves cast in the postwar world.

In any event, so long as Chile and Argentina allow Axis nationals to remain persona grata, just so long will both governments expose themselves to the charge of indifference to the cause of the democratic coalition. The public in these two countries, incidentally, have shown by their actions that they are away ahead of their governing cliques.

Dealing With Nazis

BRITISH INTELLIGENCE OFFICERS whose job it is to question arrogant Nazis captured in Egypt have discovered an instantly effective antidote to their prisoners' truculence. They merely say: "Well, if looks as though we are going to have to turn you over to the Poles." Immediately, Hitler's boys find their tongues and show signs of trying to be reasonable.

Why no German prisoners are desirous of meeting anybody from Poland is obvious. They know of the mass starvation, of the worse-than-death fate of women and girls, and of the reactions to Hitler's plan to exterminate the intellectual elements of Poland's population.

Therefore, when Nazis and Poles clash in the desert unpleasant things invariably happen to the former. It is said the Poles never take Nazi prisoners except to gain intelligence.

How easy it is to decide how a war or nation should be managed when you aren't responsible for results.

One British member of the House of Commons wants Berlin plastered in reprisal for the manning of Canadian and British prisoners of war. We second the motion!

CERTAIN EXHIBITS

VANCOUVER today is demonstrating certain interesting facts. I am not referring, as you rudely suppose, to its climate, population, beer parlors and civic culture. I am referring to something much deeper, to the whole constitutional structure of Canada. And you had better read on, because you are part of the structure and are going to get hurt if it is unduly twisted.

Today the Dominion government exercises virtually dictatorial control over all of Canada. Its War Measures Act gives it power to do as it pleases about everything. No one objects to this power. Everyone knows that it is necessary in wartime.

The constitutional structure of Canada is that curious thing, federal union, invented in the ancient world, revived by the Founding Fathers of America and imitated in our Confederation. The basic principle of it is that the local governments—in our case the provinces—shall have final and absolute control of the business entrusted to them. There is no appeal from their laws relating to their business.

Now the War Measures Act undoubtedly cuts through this principle and largely subdues the provinces—in so far as war business is concerned. Wherever the Dominion must act in the interests of the war it can and does over-ride the provinces and no one objects. But to assume that this always works efficiently is fallacious. Three exhibits in Vancouver today demonstrate the fallacy.

IN THE WATER

The most egregious is the federal government's order to the local water board to chlorinate Vancouver's excellent water supply. The same measure presumably will be applied here in Victoria, so we had better watch all angles of the present controversy. Vancouver objects to having chlorine in its water, quite naturally. Anyone who drinks and bathes in chlorinated water elsewhere knows why. In Ottawa, for example, one's skin becomes irritated in a few days of bathing in the local water, which is spiked with chlorine.

Vancouver's objection has not only a human basis, a horror of chlorination, but a legal basis as well, and a constitutional basis which goes down to the roots of our federal system. This is the point: The federal government has every right to take any action to aid the nation's war program, no matter how this interferes with our provincial and municipal autonomy. But it has no right to interfere with local business which is not concerned with the war. It has no right to use the War Measures Act to involve itself in business which concerns it in no way and concerns the war in no way. The Dominion thus must establish that the chlorination of water in Vancouver and Victoria is necessary in the prosecution of the war, in the protection of the whole nation. Conceivably it could do so if Vancouver or Victoria were undermining the nation's health, and the health of our fighting men.

This has not been demonstrated. Vancouver and Victoria are as healthy as any cities in the world. But the bureaucrats in Ottawa are using the War Measures Act to rush in and thrust aside the experienced local water administrators. They are saying, in fact, that they are better able, at 3,000 miles distance, to manage our local business than we are. They are using the war and the War Measures Act to extend their grip on local government, to enforce their own theories and to undermine not only the principle of autonomy but also the local people's confidence in federal government.

WEIRD CASE

EXAMPLE TWO in Vancouver concerns the bus lines running to West Vancouver. These lines are now under control of authorities in Ottawa who, at 3,000 miles distance, assume that they can do better than officials on the ground. The result of their remarkable regulations is that the people of West Vancouver cannot ride to town on a bus. They must take a slow, uncomfortable and inefficient ferry.

But—and this is the crowning and fantastic exhibit which makes Vancouver rage against remote control—there are plenty of buses running from West Vancouver into the city. They run, but they do not carry West Vancouver passengers. They pass by the West Vancouver resident waiting for a ride, and often they pass by empty, burning gas and rubber without result, while the householder walks to the ferry or stays home.

The reason is that the remote controllers have ordered the buses not to take on any passengers between the western limits of West Vancouver and the First Narrows Bridge, or to let any passengers off there either. The buses may only take on passengers far west of the West Vancouver residential area and let them off there. They cannot serve the place where the people are. And this incredible farce has been going on for weeks and still goes on and no one can stop it because the buses are stalled in a jungle of red tape.

LAST EXHIBIT

FINALLY—but the details are too long to be recounted here—the selective service system of Ottawa is utterly failing to meet the industrial problems of British Columbia, is failing to enforce its own regulations and has left our chief war industry, the production of timber, declining in output while lumber is a vital war material.

This is not to say that Ottawa must not have war powers. It is to say that it should not stretch these war powers into local business much better done locally and having nothing to do with the war; and that when it does invade local business of necessity and destroy the structure of private business it should make a good job of it.

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

"You can't fool me, Doc—I'll bet this big order of groceries is just another one of your prescriptions for some hard luck family!"

Religious Judges

From Toronto Saturday Night

Discussion of recent judicial vacancies in Ontario appears to have proceeded upon the assumption that whatever religious communion, and whatever racial element in that communion, a deceased judge may have belonged to, his successor must inevitably belong to that same faith and that same racial element. This assumption, which was vigorously criticized at a recent meeting of the Canadian Bar Association by Mr. D. L. McCarthy, one of Canada's most eminent counsel and a former president of the association, appears to us to strike at the foundations of all respect for the judiciary, for it reduces it to nothing more than an element in a political spoils system, the proceeds of which must be distributed according to an accepted formula among the different elements of the nation.

There is no parallel between the judiciary and the offices of state in the government, which by a long-standing tradition are actually distributed in accordance with geographical, racial and religious considerations. The result of this distribution does not make for the most brilliant or the most cohesive of cabinets, but it does make for cabinets in which the different elements of our mixed population can each have their point of view competently expressed and supported. The principle may be and at times doubtless is carried to an extreme; but it is not in itself an objectionable principle.

But the judiciary is an entirely different matter. The principle of representation has no validity here; all that is needed in the general interest is that the courts should be composed of the ablest and most judiciously minded persons obtainable. The judges do most of their work singly, though they sometimes operate together as a bench. Nobody will seriously suggest that any litigant, be he Catholic, Protestant or Jew, stands any less chance of getting justice from a court in which there are five Protestants and four Catholics than from one in which there are four Protestants and five Catholics, or four Protestants and four Catholics and one Jew, and this irrespective of whether the litigant is being heard by one judge from among these or by the whole nine. The sole interest of such a litigant, if his case is sound, is that the entire nine men should be the ablest and fairest-minded who can be found for the task.

To assert that the successor of a Protestant judge must be a Protestant, and the successor of a Catholic judge must be a Catholic, is not to say anything about justice; no consideration of justice is involved in that question. Is to say simply this: that this or that section of the population is entitled to the salary of this judgeship, purely and simply as a piece of political spoils, because the appointment is in the gift of the Crown. This is the kind of consideration to which we are accustomed in the lower branches of the Civil Service, and which we tolerate there under the impression that the tasks involved are of such small importance that it can do no great harm. But to apply it to the high courts of justice is to degrade the courts and to dishonor the memory of the great judges who have sat in them and built up their reputation. There are times when it actually goes so far as to make of judicial appointments a form of relief for indigent lawyers, to be administered like a charitable trust, with the specification that

Hotel Use May Avert Billeting

Compulsory billeting may become necessary in Victoria, where housing accommodation is

COULD NOT SEW A BUTTON ON

Her Hands Were Helpless With Rheumatic Pains

At one time, this woman thought she would lose the use of her right hand. But "a blessing"—in the form of Kruschen Salts—put her right again.

"I was sure in a bad state," she writes. "In fact, I could not do my housework, I was so bad with rheumatic pains in my arms and hands. I got little sleep at night, and I thought I would lose the use of my right hand. I could not hold anything, nor could I sew a button on. My arm was often numb. I was advised to try Kruschen, and inside of three weeks I found such a change, I have kept on taking it, and now I sleep all night—thanks to Kruschen's help and relief."—(Mrs.) J. H.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals, which are often responsible for those rheumatic pains. Other ingredients of Kruschen assist Nature to expel the dissolved crystals through the natural channel. Relief follows.

Kruschen is a British product, obtainable at all drug-stores, 25c and 75c.

admittedly scarce, Mayor Andrew McGavin said today. But until the question has been fully surveyed, until the authorities have considered how new Wartime Housing Ltd. dwellings will reduce the pressure and until possible greater use of hotel facilities have been determined, the city should move slowly on the matter, he added.

Commenting on press reports over the possible institution of compulsory billeting, the mayor remarked Victoria, as a peculiarly residential city, might find such a system highly undesirable. War conditions and the gravitation of labour to points such as shipbuilding centres created emergent needs, he said, but solutions did not always hinge on adoption of the first suggestion put forward.

Reduction in tourist travel had left certain hotels with ample available room space to handle a large number of residents, he said. He suggested some revision in hotel policy along lines of extended tenancy at lower rates might help to overcome the scarcity of available shelter.

TORONTO TO REGISTER

In Toronto registration of available space for housing accommodation will be made compulsory, Mayor Fred Conboy said today on his return from Ottawa. He added that new buildings will not be encouraged if homes can be used to provide extra accommodation.

Naval Control Backs Up Merchantmen Who Deliver the Goods Overseas

By LIEUT. WILLIAM SCLATER, R.C.N.V.R.

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT—Since the war began the lot of the merchant seafarer has been considerably improved. Do not misunderstand that statement. It does not mean that the danger to ships of the United Nations has lessened, but that many improvements have been and are being undertaken.

Ships are better armed, better convoyed and better protected now than they were at the beginning and the welfare of the merchant seaman is a factor of growing importance and consideration. Most seafarers will readily grant that. It is a natural development, for it is upon the ships of the merchant navy that the destiny of the United Nations rests, and the men who sail the ships are heroes of the battle-at-sea.

COVERS BIG TERRITORY

This is a story of naval control. It is not the sort of story you would expect to hear about the navy. To a navyman or to a merchant navyman they spell something that covers a lot of territory. Among a host of other things, naval control officers and ratings are the guides, the mentors and the trouble-shooters of the ships and men of the merchant fleets. It is they who keep the ships manned and moving and it is they who succour the survivors of unlucky ones, who see they are warm and comfortable, that any man needing medical attention is ambulated immediately to hospital and that he has an ample supply of "smokes" with him.

These are part of their ordinary duties. I have seen an officer who quelled an incipient mutiny at 4 in the afternoon with a "doubled fist," carry in his arms an injured survivor from a torpedoed ship at 10 o'clock the same night with a cheery smile.

Naval control it is called. It doesn't use force... it doesn't have to. The merchant navy knows the uniform that protects it along the sealanes. They know it is worn by men who will give their lives, gladly, in the same service and they honor it. They know, too, that its decisions are final and effective and they also know that they will be fair and impartial.

THREE YEARS OF STRAIN

But war did not start yesterday. Some of the captains who have steered their courses across the world's waters since the autumn of '39, with minds and muscles tensed through dangerous days and doubtful nights, show signs of strain. The navy knows how it is, for it is a familiar problem with them, and they know how to handle it.

A few days ago a big merchant liner made this port with "captain trouble" aboard. Around his as he came to anchor were ships of a dozen countries, for this is one of the great seaports where the Atlantic convoys gather. Off to him in a harbor craft sped a lieutenant of the naval control service.

LISTEN TO GRIEVANCES

He held a conference aboard with the captain and his officers and he listened patiently to their grievances. The captain was bound he would not take his ship out with the bunch of grumbling, back-biting officers he had aboard. And the officers were equally bound they would sail no longer with such a cantankerous cross-grained captain.

Looking them over the naval control officer saw that they were a well-trained, intelligent and capable group of men. He also found out that they had sailed together for a long time.

However, his first move had been to draw out their grievances and in this he succeeded. When a man gets the things that are bothering him off his chest he inevitably feels much better. When a great and friendly seaport is close at hand, the way the other fellow used his fork ceases to irritate him.

After the conference the Naval Control officer had a session with the captain alone. This is a part of the story that should really be off the record for sometimes a Naval Control officer becomes a very human sort of being and, in the interests of the service, steps out of his uniform. This was one such occasion. The facts never appeared in the record.

At the start of their private session the captain was silent. His hands gripped the arms of the chair so tightly that you could see the bones through the skin on his knuckles. The Naval Control officer reminded him of his early associations with the ship and the crew, of the days when it had been a happy and competent ship's crew. He pointed out how unusual conditions had developed the bickering. The men, he said, were tired and short-tempered in face of the monotony of danger. The captain admitted these things. Something had to be done about it before the ship sailed, the captain agreed, for the ship and her cargo were vital.

"Captain, have you ever tried God?" asked the control officer. "Not once, but many times in my own life I've been faced with situations about which I felt quite hopeless. It was a hard thing for me to do at first but when these times come I have learned to ask God for succor. He has given me grace and the faith to go on."

The captain nodded his head. "It's a poor seaman who doesn't have some faith in God," he said. He relaxed and started to talk.

CAPTAIN SEES LIGHT

and children and told him what they meant to him and the captain showed the Naval Control officer pictures of his wife and children. The captain began to look at his officers in a different light.

The ship sailed next day, with the same captain and the same crew. From a speeding harbor craft on the way to another incoming ship a Naval Control officer watched her go. Another cargo was on the way with munitions for Britain's fighting men and food for the women and children behind the lines.

WIFE: Easy as pie! I just put a touch of Sunlight Soap at the extra-dirty spots. Then, when I washed the clothes my usual way, Sunlight's "extra-soapiness" just eased out the dirt and grease.

HUSBAND: Great stuff! No "half-washed" look about the clothes this week.

The bride was the former Elizabeth Simms, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Simms of St. John's, in which city the young couple will make their home.

Social and Personal

Mrs. W. C. Woodward and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Woodward, entertained at an informal luncheon party at Government House today for Miss Diana Spencer, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Victor Spencer of Vancouver. Miss Spencer, who will return with His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Mrs. Woodward and Miss Woodward to Vancouver this evening, will leave at the end of the week for Ottawa, where she will report for training with the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service.

Miss Lena MacLennan, Mount Edward Apartments, left last week for Halifax, N.S., where her marriage to Sub-Lt. J. E. M. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jones of Winnipeg, will take place Oct. 20. En route east she spent the Thanksgiving week-end in Winnipeg as the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Norman MacLennan.

Maj. Henry Clark Davis, a well-known San Francisco doctor, who saw service in the last war, has again joined the Canadian forces. He is stationed in Vancouver, where he has just been joined by his wife, the former Muriel Bate of Victoria. They have taken up residence at the Devonshire.

Mrs. E. J. Galvin, 1213 Johnson Street, and her mother, Mrs. Wm. Groves, have returned from Vancouver where they attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Galvin's second son, John F. Galvin, to Miss Frances Simmons, Vancouver, which took place at Holy Rosary Cathedral Saturday. The newly-married couple will reside at Copper Mountain, B.C., where the groom, a native son of Victoria, is employed with the Granby Smelter.

Miss Elizabeth McCarter of Victoria, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McCarter, Uplands, was a guest at the wedding in Seattle Tuesday morning of Miss Agnes Shaw, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon T. Shaw, to Lieut. Francis Duane Anstett, U.S.N.R. The bride was attended by six bridesmaids. Miss McCarter was among the bevy of girls assisting in the dining-room at the home of the bride's parents, where the largely-attended reception was held.

Mrs. Ernestine Lebleu has returned to her home in St. Boniface, Man., after spending the last six months with her son and daughter-in-law, Telegrapher and Mrs. Edgar Lebleu, in Victoria.

Mrs. R. L. Pocock has returned to her home on View Street after a few days' visit with Mrs. Nigel Kingscote, Cowichan Bay, and also with Mrs. T. H. Kingscote, Wilcuma.

Miss Mora Gay, whose marriage will take place Friday to Pte. Roy McMinn, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given Tuesday evening by Miss Marjorie White at her home, 424 Moss Street. The bride-to-be and her mother, Mrs. D. Gay, were presented with corsage bouquets of pink chrysanthemums, and the gifts were concealed in a box prettily decorated with two shades of pink paper. Games were enjoyed during the evening, and Miss Peggy Love and Mrs. C. Clague assisted the hostess in serving. A bowl of pink chrysanthemums centred the supper table, which was covered by a lace cloth and lighted by pink candles in silver holders. Other guests included—Mesdames H. Ensor, Strong, A. White, A. McDonald, Perrins, M. Impett and the Misses Frances Patterson, Orlean Patterson, Muriel Malcolm, Aileen Walker, Grace Adams, Jean Adams, Jane Clague and Andrea McDonald.

Women Must Help In Labor Crisis, Says Mrs. Eaton

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Rex Eaton, assistant director of National Selective Service, today told the national convention of the Young Women's Christian Association here that Canada now is in the midst of a labor crisis which must be faced and solved, and said Canadian women must fill the breach caused by the shortage of manpower.

"Now—this very day—we are in a crisis. These shortages are real. It seems difficult to drive home the fact that labor shortage is here now," Mrs. Eaton said. "Quite apart from our war industries, there are serious shortages of help in hospitals, in the social service and welfare fields, in restaurants and in hotels, to name only a few."

"Any woman who can accept employment must realize where her duty lies. It is a matter between the woman and her own conscience. I feel the time is not far off when any able-bodied Canadian woman who is not tied to her home by responsibility, who can work and does not work, will be conspicuous—and perhaps not in a way she would like to be. She will be conspicuous as a woman who is not willing to do her part in the total war effort."

National Selective Service, Mrs. Eaton said, aims to put the right persons in the right job.

British Children Get Another Jolt In Tummies

LONDON (CP)—British youngsters, sharing rapidly-diminishing luxuries equally with adults, have been jolted in the place where it hurts most—their tummies.

With the coming of October they said goodbye to ice cream and water ices. That's a tough knock for the youngsters, as well as oldsters, when you remember that candy is rationed, and soft drinks made from fruits and other kindred goodies are non-existent or extremely hard to get.

The order prohibiting the manufacture of ices won't be felt immediately, however. It's growing colder and damper in Britain now, and hot drinks are in demand.

Mrs. Huntly Green To Open Musical Arts Season.

With Gertrude Huntly Green, pianist, scheduled to give the opening recital on Wednesday evening, Oct. 21, the Victoria Musical Art Society in anticipating one of the most interesting seasons in its history, despite the exigencies of war, it is announced by the president, Mrs. E. W. Hetherington.

Six concerts have been arranged for the season, during which will be featured several artists of international reputation, notably Miriam Marinell, an American artist famed as a mime and dancer, who specializes in interpretative dances to classical music. She will appear on Nov. 18 in one of the most unusual and beautiful programs ever given before the society.

David Oldham, baritone, who has endeared himself to Victoria concert-goers on several occasions, will give a recital on Jan. 20, and will be assisted by a string quartet. William Morton, Canadian tenor, is coming from the east and will be heard on Feb. 17, and, from what the critics say, a rare treat is in store for those who hear him.

March 17 is to be devoted to a program featuring concertos for two pianos, the artists to be announced later. On April 21, the Victoria Operatic Society will give a series of selections, assisted by Gertrude Bates, violinist, a newcomer from Saskatchewan, with Grace Timp at the piano.

The season will conclude on April 28, when the annual meeting will be held. Tickets for the concert series may be obtained when the box office opens Thursday at Fletcher Bros.

With a program of such high calibre promised for the forthcoming season, the society anticipates an influx of new members to swell its ranks.

Clubwomen's News

Women's Union of the First Baptist Church will meet Thursday at 2:30 p.m. Rev. G. A. Reynolds will speak.

The Native Daughters of B.C. Post No. 3, will meet this evening at 7:45 in the Sons of England Hall, Broad Street.

The Women's Auxiliary to No. 11 Area Signal Company will hold a knitting meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. S. Morton, 1460 Pandora Avenue, at 2. Christmas party will be discussed.

Victoria Cwacs Get Commissions

2ND LIEUT. L. MURRAY

2ND LIEUT. V. T. CICERI

2ND LIEUT. E. L. CLARK

2ND LIEUT. M. L. COOPER

At an impressive ceremony at St. Anne de Bellevue, Quebec, last Friday afternoon a group of Victoria girls received their commissions in the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

Second Lieut. Lesley Murray is the daughter of Mrs. Creagh Allen, Victoria, and the late Capt. Peter Murray, a Great War veteran. She was born in Addington, Scotland, and came to Victoria in 1924, attending St. George's and St. Margaret's schools. Later, she went to England to attend the Cheshire School of Agriculture for two and a half years and worked in a laboratory in Chester. After returning to Canada, she joined the C.W.A.C. in October, 1941, working as a hospital receptionist in the military hospital, Work Point, Esquimalt, and also for a few months in the laboratory before going to Ste. Anne de Bellevue.

Second Lieut. Veronica T. Ciceri is the daughter of Mr. J. C. Ciceri, 950 Richmond Avenue, and the late Mrs. Ciceri. She was born in Victoria and educated at St. Ann's Academy. She later attended the Sprott-Shaw Business School, doing clerical work until joining the C.W.A.C. in September, 1941. She then worked in the engineers' finance branch at M.D. 11, and came to Ste. Anne de Bellevue in July, 1942, for basic training and cadet course. In the early part of the war, she was active in the Red Cross Voluntary Corps, and before joining the C.W.A.C. was employed for four months as a volunteer worker in the orderly room of the Provost Corps, Esquimalt.

Second Lieut. Enid L. Clark is the daughter of the late Brig. Gen. R. P. Clark, C.M.G., D.S.O., M.C., and of Mrs. Clark, Vancouver, B.C. She was born in Victoria, B.C., and educated at St. Margaret's School, Folkestone, England. She was employed for a number of years as office secretary to a number of prominent Vancouver medical men, until joining the C.W.A.C. in October, 1941. She worked at C.W.A.C. headquarters, Ottawa, before leaving for Washington, D.C., where she was one of the first three members of the C.W.A.C. on foreign service. She returned to Canada in August, 1942, to go to Ste. Anne de Bellevue. She has four brothers serving in the army: Lt.-Col. R. C. Clark, commanding the Irish Regiment of Canada; Maj. R. P. Clark, P.P.C.L.I. (overseas); Lieut. Bruce C. Clark, 4th Canadian Recce Battalion (P.L.D.G.), and Lt. E. C. Clark, 28th Canadian Armored Regiment (B.C.R.), the last three named being overseas.

Second Lieut. Muriel Lily Cooper is the daughter of Capt. J. Crawford, M.M., and the late Mrs. Crawford. She was born in London, England, and was educated in both Canada and England, living in Victoria, Winnipeg, Kingston, Regina and Saskatoon during the time her father, who has had 43 years' service in the Canadian army, was stationed in these cities. Her present home is Saskatoon. She worked for nine years as secretary to the chief of police, Saskatoon, and in June, 1942, married John Cooper, who is now with the Canadian Firefighter Corps overseas. For three years she was president of the Cara Amica Club in Saskatoon.

Mental Condition Blamed

Flett Not Responsible
Defence Witnesses Say

"Infective-exhaustive psychosis," scientific name for a mental condition that occasionally follows most infective diseases, was blamed Tuesday by expert witnesses and defence counsel W. H. Davey for the state of mind of Arnold C. Flett on the afternoon of April 29 last when he attempted to hold up the Oak Bay branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Mr. Davey indicated the course of Flett's defence at the conclusion of the Crown's case soon after the court resumed for the lengthy afternoon session, when he said that the whole thing was incomprehensible.

Here was a young man, he said, well regarded in the community in which he lived, an active church member, a leader in community enterprises, attempting an armed robbery that by its very method was doomed to failure.

It would be shown, Mr. Davey told the jury under Mr. Justice Sidney Smith, that Flett had financial difficulties but that they did not enter into the question. He owed a substantial sum of money but possessed a well-stocked farm and other assets and was taking care of his creditors.

It was difficult to decide, he said, how Flett had come to choose the plan to attempt the hold-up and how he followed the method of carrying out that plan. It had already been shown that Flett went to the bank manager, who had no cash, instead of the teller who had money in front of him.

The rational explanation of both plan and method, defence counsel said, was that Flett, at the time, was laboring under some disability of mind and that there was solid support for this theory.

SICK IN FEBRUARY

In February, he said, the Duncan man had been in hospital suffering from bronchitis. Since his release, he had been examined by well-known psychiatrists, all of whom would say he had suffered from the condition known as infective-exhaustive psychosis.

Previous to Mr. Davey's opening address to the jury, the Crown case, conducted by J. B. Clearhue, K.C., had concluded with police evidence of Flett's arrest.

Oak Bay's Police Chief, Hugh C. F. Reston, said Flett, after being told he would be charged with attempted armed robbery and given the customary warning, had said:

"I got into a mess through politics. I borrowed the revolver from Mr. McKelvie of Duncan to use in connection with the Duncan Rangers."

Patricia Margison, former secretary to Hon. W. L. Pearson, Minister of Labor, said Flett had called on Mr. Pearson on the morning of the robbery and after asking for an appointment waited until 2.25 and then left, saying he could not wait. He was not then wearing dark glasses, she told Mr. Clearhue under cross examination.

Mrs. Margison said she understood Flett was active in politics and had run for the Legislature. He visited Mr. Pearson frequently and was usually pleasant and talkative. On the day in question, she said he seemed quiet and depressed.

Dr. D. S. McHaffie, Duncan physician, told the court he had examined Flett in February and found him suffering from bronchitis bordering on bronchial pneumonia. He was treated with a derivative of sulfanilamide in normal quantities which left him in a slightly toxic condition, insufficient to cause alarm. He was over the effects of both treatment and disease when he left the hospital five days after he entered it.

Dr. McHaffie said he had not seen Flett since then. He never knew Flett to be suffering from depression, melancholia, delusions or loss of memory.

Dr. J. G. MacKay of New Westminster, who examines prisoners on being brought to Oakalla jail, said he had examined Flett in Victoria May 7 and found him in a depressed state, coming on gradually and aggravated by his physical illness in February. He was suffering from loss of memory, particularly regarding the charge against him, while evidence showed that since his illness he had been apt to neglect his work. All this was consistent with a condition of infective-exhaustive psychosis as were the childish methods followed by Flett in his attempt at crime, in which he sat for 10 or 15 minutes in the bank within easy reach of money in the teller's cage but did not attempt the hold-up until he got to the manager's office.

Mr. Clearhue: "Wouldn't the fact that accused gave a false name in approaching the bank, wore dark glasses, etc., show that he knew he was doing wrong?"

Dr. MacKay: "Yes, it appeared he was quite connected up to that time."

Mr. Clearhue: "And knew he was doing wrong."

Dr. MacKay: "Yes, but if must be followed up. After he entered the bank he showed no intention of going through with the robbery."

The witness subsequently admitted to Crown counsel that Flett must have known it would appear he was going to rob a bank and that it looked like a well-organized plan to do so.

FEARED SUICIDE

He said that Flett's condition had gradually improved but that soon after his arrest it was such that he, witness, had warned accused's counsel not to apply for bail; that for his own safety Flett should be committed to Oakalla. Dr. MacKay said he feared suicide due to accused's state of mind.

Dr. G. A. Davidson of Vancouver, formerly in charge of the Ponoka Institute, Alberta, corroborated much of Dr. MacKay's testimony and said that although he examined Flett on May 24 and found no mental abnormality the whole background should be considered, that of debt, infection and evident depression, Flett, he said, might be suffering from hallucinations, apathy, fatigue, depression and periodic loss of memory and that these conditions might come on in patches and never be apparent to the lay observer.

Asked if this condition ever resulted in a tendency to crime Dr. Davidson said it had been known to.

Dr. C. H. Vrooman, another Vancouver psychiatrist, said normal persons frequently get sudden impulses to crime but repressed them immediately. In a sufferer from infective-exhaustive psychosis they might not be repressed, he said, citing cases on record in substantiation.

Dr. G. L. Hodgins, diagnostician of Vancouver, witness for the prosecution, said that almost everyone felt depressed after an infectious disease and that crime was not a characteristic of this condition. No doctor, he said, knows the condition of Flett at the particular time of the attempted robbery. It would not be fair to say he committed the crime because of psychosis nor would it be fair to say otherwise. Whether or not Flett knew it was wrong, he knew he was going to rob a bank, Dr. Hodgins said.

Testifying in his own defence, Flett said his interest in politics affected his farm adversely and he became involved financially, owing between $1,500 and $2,000.

He was making monthly payments to his creditors, none of whom were pressing him. Against his debts he owned an unencumbered farm with cattle and other livestock. He had never before been in debt. After his sickness in February he had been unable to work for some time and had continued to neglect his work some time after he had apparently recovered. He couldn't plan his work and forgot many important matters.

HAZY ABOUT CRIME

His first thought of holding up the bank as a way out of his difficulties came when he was driving in to Victoria the morning of the attempt, although, he said, he was very hazy about it.

He was coming in to see Mr. Pearson about a Duncan old age pension case and had the revolver and the dark glasses in the car with him. He had borrowed the gun a few days before as a Ranger group captain for target practice. The dark glasses he always carried.

He said he remembered looking in the phone book to find a bank when he got to town about 11 o'clock but did not remember having lunch. He remembered waiting to see Mr. Pearson and thought he did see him, but not in his office.

As to the robbery he said, he remembered being admitted to the bank and the manager, T. W. L. Mutch, coming out to meet him. The next thing he remembered was Mr. Mutch having the revolver and someone holding him.

Cross examined by Mr. Clearhue, Flett said he was a member of the church and the hospital board and attending hospital board and church meetings between the time of his illness and the robbery attempt and gave details of business transacted at one of them.

Mr. Clearhue: "You know it was wrong to hold up a bank."

Accused: "Yes, I can't understand it."

Mr. Clearhue: "Suppose someone had suggested it to you."

Accused: "I'd have laughed at it because it would have been ridiculous."

Earlier police evidence had shown that Flett's car was parked just around the corner from the bank and that while he was in the bank he wore a cloth cap, dark glasses and an open-necked shirt without a tie. In the car, was a topcoat draped over the front with a felt fedora and a

English Students
Appreciate Gift

Bombs have not left the heart of Birmingham unscarred. But the hearts of the little children there are very much like they are anywhere else in the world, in spite of the harrowing experiences of war.

Proof of that statement was found today in a letter and collection of little notebooks received at Sir James Douglas School. The message and the books, hand-made by the children of a Birmingham school, formed an expression of gratitude from the students to the Victoria school pupils who this year denied themselves pop and candy provided by the P.T.A. on sports days and used the money that would have been spent on themselves to buy chocolate bars for some of the youngsters at school in the British industrial centre.

The contact began with letters forwarded to Sir James Douglas by the Department of Education, which had received them from Birmingham. The Victoria pupils replied, with Norma Wright forwarding a covering letter.

church member and community leader in Duncan were W. T. Straith, M.L.A. of Victoria, Mayor E. W. Lee of Duncan and Rev. J. F. Burns, pastor of Flett's church.

Taking of evidence was completed late Tuesday, the court adjourning until today.

FORGOTTEN TASTE

"It was a great delight to all of us when we received your letters and then, a few days later, the chocolates," he wrote. "Their safe arrival says much for the watchful eyes of the forces. I must confess that I had a wee taste of the choc. just to remind me how palatable milk chocolate is." The letter described the city and its environs and touched upon the damage wrought by Nazi bombs. Speaking specifically of the gifts from Victoria it continued:

"Now to show our appreciation of your school generosity we have made the enclosed little booklets. There is nothing else we could send, but they contain a wealth of love and good fellowship from one part of the Empire to another. This is the way to get to know one another, and I sincerely hope that these letters are only an introduction to a life-long friendship. Our children, mainly in a poorer part of the city, but they have hearts of gold, and the thrill they get when receiving your letters was worth recording."

The booklets themselves were small, pocket memorandums bound in cardboard and backed in cloth, evidently the product of a branch of the Birmingham school's craft work.

Council Kills Move To Lift Hour Parking

Arguments by Alderman Archie Wills that the city was using motorists as a revenue producer through parking fines and that declining use of cars made one-hour parking regulations unnecessary failed to sway the City Council Tuesday afternoon as it turned down his motion to lift the one-hour limit in the city and establish a two-hour minimum.

On the vote he and Alderman Ed. Williams were alone for the amendment of the parking by-law. Alderman B. J. Gadsden declined to vote, but was counted in the affirmative with Mayor Andrew McGavin and Aldermen W. L. Morgan, J. A. Worthington, D. D. McTavish, W. H. Davies, P. E. George, F. A. Wills and T. W. C. Hawkins.

Chief of Police J. A. McLellan's report against relaxation of existing regulations was read and Alderman Worthington moved it be received and filed and the chief commended on his statement.

Ald. Wills disagreed with some submissions of the chief. He did not agree all-day parkers would be drawn out of parking lots by an amendment. Nor did he agree changes in the parking hours would increase traffic dangers, since curbs were filled by cars now which occupied as much room as would automobiles parked there for longer periods. His idea had been to assist shoppers who found in many cases they could not complete their business within the one-hour limit, he said, particularly workingmen on Saturday afternoons.

"The parking motorist is just a source of revenue for the city," he said, adding police revenues were jacked up and the amount collected in fines increased year after year by the council.

At that point he brought in the amendment to have the city solicitor draft an amendment to extend minimum downtown parking to two hours instead of one.

Alderman Worthington said the proposal was a backward step and that most people were satisfied with existing regulations.

NOT YET TIME
Alderman Morgan noted the decline in the use of cars was not yet appreciable and thought the parking regulations might be amended when the anticipated major fall in traffic occurred.

Alderman Wills supported Alderman Wills' contention the number of cars using one-hour zones occupied as much of the street and created as great a hazard as those parked for two hours. He was not prepared to accept the suggestion the city victimized the parking motorist as a revenue source.

Alderman George said extension of the parking limit to two hours instead of one would relieve pressure on police officers now marking cars and might free some to attend to other pressing duties.

Mayor McGavin voiced opinion the number, if any, released would not be of great value to the police in other departments.

DANGEROUS MOVE
Alderman Davies saw the danger of motorists now using parking lots being enticed back onto the streets and blocking business from curb space.

Mayor McGavin said the streets were not supposed to be used as a garage. He referred to an argument by Alderman Wills over use of parking meters as a revenue collector by saying he, the mayor, agreed with the meter system. He urged the council not to support the amendment in face of the chief's report.

Alderman Worthington said he took the chief's advice.

"Did you agree with him on parallel parking?" asked Alderman Wills.

Alderman Worthington pounded his desk. "That was different. The merchants were losing business," he said.

Blood donors urgently needed.

Order Device to Make Electrolysis Survey

The City Council Tuesday authorized purchase of a $450 millivolt meter, a scientific device to measure low current flows, as a means of surveying potential causes of electrolysis on water mains.

Acquisition of the instrument was recommended by the water board and brought forth a query from Mayor Andrew McGavin to Alderman John A. Worthington, chairman, as to whether or not the board felt justified in overruling its budget in that way.

Alderman Worthington replied the city had enjoyed a good water year, would have about $450,000 from the service and could afford the outlay in a move to get factual matter on electrolysis.

When the instrument is secured it will be placed in service without delay. Hundreds of checks will be made to determine the amount of current carried through city pipes. The device is such, it was explained, that a 24-hour record was provided, covering both peak and drop current loads.

Two motions by Alderman Archie Wills honoring the Victoria men who have paid and will in future pay the supreme sacrifice during the present war were endorsed.

The first motion called for a period of silence prior to each meeting in memory of the fallen. The second called for appointment of a committee to consider establishment of a roll of honor which will list the names of all those who give their life in the conflict.

A recommendation from the parks and boulevards committee aimed at raising the fees for Ross Bay cemetery services and tightening regulations regarding the exhuming of bodies was tabled by the council for a week for further study.

The parks department should prune trees which create hazards in blackouts, Mayor McGavin said as he reported his hat had been knocked off twice by such overgrown trees on Hillside the night of the last blackout. "I thought it was a ghost doing it," he told the council. His remarks followed approval of a parks committee recommendation that two cypresses before 136 Government be removed.

Acceptance of the tender of Gordon Campbell Ltd. for manufacture of firemen's uniforms at a total cost of $2,247 was authorized on the recommendation of the fire warden.

Water board and public works committee recommendations covering sale of scrap to the Capital Iron and Metals Ltd. were accepted.

A hoist owned by the city and not used at present was rented to the Straits Towing and Salvage Co. Ltd. for $250 a year.

Sick pay was granted two employees of the public works department.

Three houses were included among properties sold on the recommendation of the lands committee. One, an old structure at 133 Moss, went for $350 on the understanding it would be moved back from the street line and placed on concrete foundations, a second at 3120 Douglas brought $750 and the other at 830 Speed Avenue $600. Half a lot on the north of View between Vancouver and Cook was sold for $350. Several privately owned lots were exchanged for city-owned property on Wilmer between Brighton and Maddison. The southeast corner of John and Pleasant was sold for $200. Operators of Prince Robert House were given permission to install three windows to serve the dining-room and a new shed adjacent to the kitchen. Removal of trees from 615 St. Charles was authorized and $400 improvements were ordered to city-owned structures at 856-8 Pandora Avenue. The Gillespie Grain Co. was granted renewal of the Ogden Point grain elevator lease on the same terms allowed for the year recently concluded, and a lot on the southeast corner of Linden and Richardson was sold for $450.

The water board was asked to deal with a letter from Maj. Gen. Pearkes, G.O.C.-in-C. Pacific Command, stating responsibility for safeguarding the watershed and preventing trespass thereon rested with the city.

A letter from the Family Welfare Association expressed thanks to the city for providing $250 to meet half the costs of repainting Welfare House.

The council referred to the public works committee a request from James Fairall for reduction in the danger caused by the condition of Henry St.

After hearing Alderman Gadsden explain his follow-up work on J. F. Crossley's suggestion for salvage of tin cans, the council referred Mr. Crossley's letter dealing with the subject to the business and trades development committee for further study.

A. H. Worthington was granted leave of absence to join the R.C.A.F. and the resignation of E. C. Tucker from the fire department was accepted.

At the suggestion of the finance committee the council extended its cost-of-living bonus to superannuated civil employees who have been re-engaged for the duration of the war. The bonus will be retroactive to the date of their re-engagement.

The basic pay of outside staff workers was raised to $4.80 on the same committee's recommendation.

The city has no power to grant the request of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club for an allowance equal to its tax arrears, the council was informed.

On the recommendation of the war committee Capt. D. J. Proudfoot was granted an honorarium of $100 a month, from May 1, for his work as Chief A.R.P. Warden. The salary of the A.R.P. stenographer was raised to $85 a month.

Good wishes for his speedy recovery will be conveyed from the council to Dr. Richard Felton, city health officer now in hospital. A motion to that effect was sponsored by Alderman P. E. George.

Congratulations were extended to Sgt. Henry A. Larsen, R.C.M.P. police boat St. Roch, and to Mrs. Larsen, who resides here, for the officer's successful navigation of the northwest passage over the roof of the world from Esquimalt to eastern Canada. The motion was sponsored by Ald. Wills.

With no opposition voiced to rezoning Catherine and Edwards St. property from single family to commercial areas, the council gave final reading to its zoning amendment by-law authorizing that change.

ST. ALBAN'S A.Y.P.A.

St. Alban's A.Y.P.A. met Tuesday evening in the church hall with the president, Walter Hamilton, in the chair. A report of the last meeting in the form of a visit to Carmichael's silver-smith was made by Miss Doris White, and an invitation to attend a Halloween social of St. John's A.Y.P.A. on Oct. 27 was accepted. Reports of the provincial conference held last weekend were made by the delegates and funds voted to supply three yearly subscriptions of the A.Y.P.A. Monthly to the forts in the city.

Loyal Group Metropolitan W.A. met recently at the home of Mrs. W. L. Smith. Mrs. A. Read led the devotional period. Arrangements were made for a home cooking stall and serving of tea at the fair to be held next month. Mrs. H. T. Knott convening the home cooking and Mrs. J. H. Scott the tea. The hostess served tea and a social half hour was enjoyed. Mrs. W. J. Cullum thanked the hostess.

Exemption for Police Protested By Gadsden

Reconsideration by Police Chief J. A. McLellan of his request to the police commission for an application seeking exemption for police from military call was sought by Alderman B. J. Gadsden in City Council Tuesday.

He strongly opposed the application, saying if he were a police officer he would not wish such exemption. Admitting he had not jurisdiction over affairs of the police commission, he asked that body to review the question again and decline such an application.

Mayor Andrew McGavin suggested it was the same exemption sought for firemen.

Alderman Archie Wills, fire warden chairman, declared no exemption had been sought for firemen. As far as he was concerned the firemen would take their chances with anyone else when it came to the draft, he said.

Alderman Ed. Williams asked for facts in connection with the issue when it came up for further discussion.

Mayor McGavin said the chief wanted to hold his men. The chief, he said, thought police officers would be as valuable here as in the Old Country.

City Asked to Buy Daily Radio Time

Sponsorship of 15-minute programs daily from Monday through to Friday over CJVI was sought from the City Council Tuesday by P. H. Gayner, of the radio station, in an interview in which he proposed the time be devoted to educational and civic subjects.

He suggested the city pay $2,400 a year for the service.

That price, he was reminded, was approximately the same rate the city could secure without a contract.

Mr. Gayner suggested the programs might be devoted to A.R.P. and blackout instructions, to surveys of parks work, to police and fire department information, educational topics, P.T.A. subjects and public health talks.

He estimated the listening public at from 25 to 32 per cent of the total available listeners in this region, saying the appeal of the station had increased substantially during the last 18 months.

Asked by Alderman Archie Wills if he had considered the scheme in the light of a Greater Victoria project, he said he had not. On the recommendation of the mayor he undertook to approach the other municipalities to discuss the matter from that point of view.

Both the mayor and Alderman J. A. Worthington thought the price high, but agreed with a move to have the question referred to the finance committee for a report back to the council.

A satisfactory test of the Bickles-Seagrave fire pumps was made at Shawnigan beach Sunday afternoon. A.R.P. members and spectators watched while two teams demonstrated the operation of the pumps, which maintained a pressure of 120 to 140 pounds. On the Mill Bay-Cobble Hill-Cherry Point team were A. Liggett, L. Hardgrave, R. Caesar, L. Horton, R. B. Moulton, and on the Shawnigan Lake team were A. Layton, R. Dougan, E. Erickson, E. Erickson Jr., J. Aitken, Mrs. Beulah Smith, Mrs. T. Brewer and Miss Pat Weber.

Red Cross Notes

ROYAL OAK UNIT

In aid of the Red Cross the Royal Oak unit will hold a motion picture show Friday evening at 8, in the Royal Oak W.I. Hall. Douglas Flintoff will be in charge of the films to be shown. As the largest part of the program will be for the entertainment of the children there will be films of "Mickey Mouse," "Our Gang" and Laurel and Hardy. One film, "Russia Stops Hitler," depicts fighting in the deep snow around Moscow. It is hoped that there will be a large enough crowd to warrant films of this sort being shown by Mr. Flintoff every month.

Half a lot on the north of View between Vancouver and Cook was sold for $350. Several privately owned lots were exchanged for city-owned property on Wilmer between Brighton and Maddison. The southeast corner of John and Pleasant was sold for $200. Operators of Prince Robert House were given permission to install three windows to serve the dining-room and a new shed adjacent to the kitchen. Removal of trees from 615 St. Charles was authorized and $400 improvements were ordered to city-owned structures at 856-8 Pandora Avenue. The Gillespie Grain Co. was granted renewal of the Ogden Point grain elevator lease on the same terms allowed for the year recently concluded, and a lot on the southeast corner of Linden and Richardson was sold for $450.

The water board was asked to deal with a letter from Maj. Gen. Pearkes, G.O.C.-in-C. Pacific Command, stating responsibility for safeguarding the watershed and preventing trespass thereon rested with the city.

A letter from the Family Welfare Association expressed thanks to the city for providing $250 to meet half the costs of repainting Welfare House.

The council referred to the public works committee a request from James Fairall for reduction in the danger caused by the condition of Henry St.

After hearing Alderman Gadsden explain his follow-up work on J. F. Crossley's suggestion for salvage of tin cans, the council referred Mr. Crossley's letter dealing with the subject to the business and trades development committee for further study.

A. H. Worthington was granted leave of absence to join the R.C.A.F. and the resignation of E. C. Tucker from the fire department was accepted.

At the suggestion of the finance committee the council extended its cost-of-living bonus to superannuated civil employees who have been re-engaged for the duration of the war. The bonus will be retroactive to the date of their re-engagement.

The basic pay of outside staff workers was raised to $4.80 on the same committee's recommendation.

The city has no power to grant the request of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club for an allowance equal to its tax arrears, the council was informed.

On the recommendation of the war committee Capt. D. J. Proudfoot was granted an honorarium of $100 a month, from May 1, for his work as Chief A.R.P. Warden. The salary of the A.R.P. stenographer was raised to $85 a month.

Good wishes for his speedy recovery will be conveyed from the council to Dr. Richard Felton, city health officer now in hospital. A motion to that effect was sponsored by Alderman P. E. George.

Congratulations were extended to Sgt. Henry A. Larsen, R.C.M.P. police boat St. Roch, and to Mrs. Larsen, who resides here, for the officer's successful navigation of the northwest passage over the roof of the world from Esquimalt to eastern Canada. The motion was sponsored by Ald. Wills.

With no opposition voiced to rezoning Catherine and Edwards St. property from single family to commercial areas, the council gave final reading to its zoning amendment by-law authorizing that change.

OUR SALMONBELLIES came back. After absorbing two straight defeats from Mimico-Brampton and being counted out of the Canadian lacrosse championship, the New Westminster lads turned on their eastern smoothies and walloped them soundly in the all-important third engagement. Whether or not the Salmonbellies can come back from the brink of an inglorious three-straight defeat to win the championship is something else, but they have at least regained some prestige by salvaging one game.

No doubt Mayor Fred Hulme of the Royal City will be taking the credit for Monday night's win on the strength of his having shipped the Salmonbellies some "pure" coast drinking water. But, putting all fooling aside, that drinking water angle is important. More than one coast athletic squad has seen its players laid low by drinking chlorinated wafer. We remember how a few years ago a Cumberland soccer team went to pieces when its players took sick in Winnipeg from the effects of strange water.

Reading between the lines of news reports we feel the entire New Westminster club has been more or less under the weather Monday night. It looked like the B.C. players finally hit their "lacrosse legs" and, sparked by the recently-arrived Bill Tyler, displayed something like their true form. If such were true the Salmonbellies might easily play a repeat performance tonight and force the series to a fifth and deciding clash.

We would like to know just how the Canadian Lacrosse Association waived its regulations to permit Jack Williams and Archie Dixon to play for Combines against New Westminster. These are the same two boys who starred for the local United Services club in its drive to the championship of the Victoria League.

Adams Has Headache

By CHARLES EDWARDS

TORONTO (CP)—Vancouver reports say that Pat Egan, the former Brooklyn American, does not seem to be permitted to leave his Vancouver shipyard job to play hockey. . . . Imagine the pained expression on manager Jack Adams' face if he finds that half of Detroit Red Wings' $26,000 purchase from Brooklyn has vanished in thin air. (Forward Harry Watson of Saskatoon found the other half of the deal.)

Significantly, Pork Levine, the former pro goalie who is expected to play for St. Regis Spitfires amateur team in New Westminster, says the chances are "pretty good." Egan himself hedges enthusiastically: "Detroit is a great city and Jack Adams is a fine fellow. I hope to be able to go east but that's up to the selective service board."

Ken (Edmonton Journal) McConnell reports that Earl Robertson, one-time Regina junior hockey star and later goalkeeper with Detroit Red Wings and New York Americans, does not plan to return to professional hockey this year because he is well satisfied with his railway job in Edmonton. . . . Robertson recalls the colorful antics of manager Red Dutton of the now-defunct Americans—the times Red tore up his best hats, his ravings on some occasions, his kindness on others. . . . There was Nels Stewart taking his time in practice, finally unbending enough to play the puck, and then Dutton's rick-filling bellow: "Nelson's got the puck, Nelson's got the puck!" . . . McConnell comments: "Maybe the N.H.L. will miss Red more than the present teams and their leaders realize. He added plenty of color to a rather drab circuit."

NEW RACING HIGH

TORONTO (CP)—George Hay, general manager and director of Dufferin Park, said Tuesday a "new high" for the year in mutual play was established Monday at Dufferin when $395,785 passed through the machines for seven races. The previous high was set at Woodbine last spring when $390,024 was bet on eight races.

ponship of the Victoria League. As a matter of fact Williams and Dixon were just about the entire scoring punch. Just before the Services entered the B.C. playoff against Salmonbellies, Dixon and Williams, along with defenceman Jesse James, were packed off east. Now they turn up with the Combines. That just doesn't seem right. It's all right to permit players in the Services to change clubs when they are called to another part of the country, but not in playoffs.

There's one chap in Victoria wearing a steady smile these days. His name is Barney Olson. Reason. He's finally come up with good ice at the Willows Arena. After struggling all last season with the new ice plant and having his share of headaches, when the rink reopened at the beginning of the month, Olson has succeeded in getting his outfit to work first class. "I've done more worrying the short time I've been associated with a skating rink than all the rest of my life," Barney told us. "But the skating fans of Victoria have been swell and I appreciate the way they have patronized the new arena."

Last two weeks has seen a lot of activity at the arena both morning and night as the four hockey clubs—V.M.D., Navy, Army and Air Force—of the new island senior circuit, prepare for the opening less than two weeks away. The shipyarders, Navy and Army have put good material on display but the Pat Bay Flyers seem to be suffering from the lack of first-class players. It was announced Saturday night the air force club had put through a change of coaches with Cpl. Donoghue now holding the berth in place of Sgt. Foulis. Unless the Flyers add to their player personnel, they are going to experience difficulty holding up their end in what promises to be a mighty fast hockey loop.

Leafs Off to Training Camp

Lose Nine Regulars

TORONTO (CP)—Minus nine players who helped the club win the Stanley Cup last season, Toronto Maple Leafs held their annual preseason luncheon here Tuesday, before leaving for their St. Catharines, Ont., training camp.

The hockey champions were accompanied to their training quarters by coach Bun Cook and seven members of the Providence Reds of the American Hockey League and a number of amateurs who hope to make the professional grade.

At the luncheon manager Frank Selke told the players that since the highest federal authorities considered that hockey was essential for national morale, the players should take their jobs seriously.

In addition to coach Happy Day and captain Syl Apps, holdovers from last season's squad who went to camp were Bob Davidson, Hank Goldup, Lorne Carr, R. Hamilton, Gaye Stewart, Billy Taylor, Bucko McDonald, Turk Broda and Dave Schreiner.

Schreiner arrived in Toronto with two Calgary amateurs, George Boothman and Ken Grandreth, who will be given tryouts with the Leafs. The veteran left-winger announced that he was reporting for preseason practice seven pounds lighter than last season. A summer of hard work had left him in fine condition.

Missing were the following members of the team who now are in the armed forces: Wally Stanowski, Bingo Kampman, Ernie Dickens, Pete Langelle, Don Metz, Nick Metz, Johnny McCreedy and Bob Goldham.

Also missing was Gordon Drilon, high-scoring right-winger who recently was sold to Montreal Canadiens.

Replacements present included Mel Hill, veteran right-winger acquired from the disbanded Brooklyn Americans. It was thought likely Hill would team with Apps and Davidson as one line, although it has been suggested that a possible starting line would consist of Apps, Davidson and Goldup, all left handers.

Amateurs who went to camp included Bud Poile, with Port Arthur in the Allan Cup finals last spring, and Doug Baldwin, rated the best junior defenceman in Winnipeg last year.

Al Lenard Tops in Eastern Grid Scoring

TORONTO (CP)—Al Lenard of Hamilton Wildcats emerged from a Thanksgiving week-end of heavy shelling to steal a clear lead on his rivals in the Ontario Rugby Football Union scoring race with 32 points, unofficial figures showed Tuesday night.

The backfield flash tallied an even dozen points Monday to break his first place tie with O.S. Hugh Cudde of Toronto H.M.C.S. York Lenard's 32-point total includes three touchdowns, four placements, two singles and three converts.

Cudde could not improve his four-touchdown total of 20 points during the week-end and Ft. Li. Eddie Thompson of Hurricanes capitalized the opportunity to move into a second-place tie with the Navy half. Thompson now has four placements, one single and seven converts.

Eastern Hockey Loop Operates

NEW YORK (CP)—Despite wide revisions in its playing personnel and club set-up, the Eastern United States Amateur Hockey League plans to operate as an eight-team circuit for the 1942-43 season, league president Tom Lockhart said Tuesday.

Although there will be fewer Canadian players in the league this year because of the armed services and industrial calls in the Dominion, Lockhart said that use of local talent in the metropolitan amateur hockey league will provide enough players for five teams.

Baltimore, Washington, River Vale, Atlantic City and Johnstown, Pa., no longer will have teams. Permission has been granted to Baltimore and Washington to drop out for a year because of transportation and player problems.

ENTRY MOVED

River Vale and Johnstown withdrew earlier, while Atlantic City, after it lost its home ice when the U.S. army took over convention hall, has decided to move its entry to Philadelphia.

There the Gulls will be known as Philadelphia Falcons, under the ownership of P. E. M. Thompson, and coached by Redvers McKenzie.

The reorganized circuit comprises the New York Rovers, Boston Olympics, Philadelphia Falcons, Curtis Bay Cutters of the United States coastguard, three metropolitan league teams—Manhattan Arrows, Jamaica (L.I.) Hawks, and Sands Point (L.I.) Tigers—and the Arma Torpedoes.

Baseballers Decide Future in December

NEW YORK (AP)—The wartime future of baseball, in so far as the magnates are masters of their own fate, is to be determined at meetings of both the major and minor leagues in Chicago the first week in December.

The majors now are in the process of approving the change of the site of their sessions from New York and the date to coincide with the minors, but it was learned today that enough clubs already have agreed to switch to make the doubleheader meetings certain.

The major league confabs are planned for Dec. 1, 2 and 3, a week earlier than usual, and the minors meeting, Dec. 4 and 5, three days later than in the past.

MacPhail All Through

BROOKLYN (AP)—Brooklyn Baseball Club announced Tuesday that Lt. Col. L. S. (Larry) MacPhail had added his resignation as a member of the board of directors to his previous withdrawal as president and general manager of the Dodgers.

THOROUGHbred SALES

LEXINGTON (AP)—Fifty-eight stallions, broodmares and yearlings were sold at an average of $198.88 for a total of $11,535 at the opening of Lexington's annual thoroughbred auction Monday night.

Last year's opening average was $545, when 87 thoroughbreds were sold.

Combines Switch Lineup For Fourth Boxla Clash

Sutphin Real Ice Promoter

By HUGH FULLERTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Ever stop to think how hard a sports promoter has to work to get you to buy a ticket for his games? . . . We never had thought much about it, either, until Al Sutphin, the big ink and ice man from Cleveland, started telling the other night how he got such crowds to watch his hockey club. . . . things like providing a winning team, bring in new men every season and spending plenty of cash for advertising, are just the starters.

"I see to it that there's a hockey game every Saturday night, with no exceptions," Sutphin explains. "The fans always know what to expect. Our club spends $9,000 a year more on travel than the others just to get those Saturdays. . . . I'll even move a circus out overnight for a game." . . . Then there's the little matter of arranging special nights for clubs and industrial organizations, and after-dinner speaking. . . . Al is the order, but he has a special promotion staff to follow up his talks. . . . There are about 150 clubs in Cleveland, and I've probably spoken before all of them," he says.

Wilbur Wood, the New York Sun's sports editor, has figured out that, if taxes remain at their present levels, Joe Louis would have to take down $2,170,000 in purses to save enough to pay his debts. . . . No wonder Joe is a bit confused about whether he has retired.

BASKETBALL WORKOUT

A workout of the Junior K-V's basketball team will be held tonight at First United Church gym at 8. All last year's players and others interested are asked to attend.

Bring Back Large; Dixon, Williams Gone

TORONTO (CP)—Whether it was overconfidence, loose net-minding or simply the comeback of New Westminster Salmonbellies which caused Mimico-Brampton Combines downfall in the third game of the Mann Cup finals may be determined tonight when the series resumes in Maple Leaf Gardens before an anticipated crowd of 5,000.

The theory favored by most rail-birds is that all three factors contributed to New Westminster's 14 to 8 victory Monday night. Special stress on the goaltender's angle, however, is laid by some observers who claim that Pete Anthony's jittery display in the Mimico-Brampton nets unnerved his teammates and set up the Salmonbelly triumph.

For the fourth game tonight, coach Chuck Davidson has decided to replace Anthony with Bert Large. Large displayed the wizardry acquired in 13 seasons of lacrosse during the first two games. All agree his performance had a lot to do with Mimico-Brampton's 10 to 7 and 15 to 9 victory last week.

If overconfidence caused the trouble, it should be dissipated by now. "We've got to pull up our socks from here in," Davidson told his players in the dressing room Monday. "We won't be able to mess around when we get out there Wednesday, I can tell you."

LOSES TWO STARS

Davidson's other line-up shift has been forced upon him. Jack Williams and Archie Dixon, two of the stars of the series, are rejoining Maj. Conn Smyth's 30th Battery and will be replaced by Bill James and Onions Smith.

Three Salmonbellies—Doug Ross, Art Mathewson and Alan Askev—will miss tonight's game and probably will be unable to play if a fifth game is necessary Friday. Ross is in hospital with a split kidney. Mathewson is out with a dislocated shoulder and Askev has a heavy chest cold.

Joe Louis Spends Furlough in South

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sgt. Joe Louis flew into town Tuesday from Fort Riley, Kas., on a two-weeks furlough and emphasized: "The only right now is in the army."

"If and when I'm mustered out, then maybe I'll think about boxing." There'll be plenty of time then.

He assured he'd continue boxing because "I'm only 28. I'm not gonna quit."

"You can't tell what kind of shape I'll be in when this war is over," he added. "Layoffs (from training) sure don't help none."

SCORES HOLE-IN-ONE

While playing on the Cedar Hill links E. E. Mitchell scored a hole-in-one on the fourth hole. He was partnered with Sgt. Maj. Summerfelt.

Jacobs Hopeful Louis Will Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs professed Tuesday to have not a doubt in the world that Sgt. Joe Louis would defend his heavyweight title again "some time," no matter how the sergeant might feel about it at the moment.

"They all come back," the old ticket tycoon philosophized as he looked over the latest dispatches from the west, in which Joe continued to say yes or no in a somewhat confused disagreement with himself.

"Joe says here he might be too old to fight when the war's over," Mike said, adjusting his specs. "They never get too old to fight for that kind of dough."

"Joe's only 28 now. What if the war lasted, say, five years. He would still be only 33 when he got out. Jim Braddock won the title when he was 35, didn't he? And these colored fighters usually are better when they're past 30. Look at Jack Johnson. Nobody knows how old he was when he lost his title to Willard."

WILL RETAIN PUNCH

"One thing, whenever Joe comes out of the army, he'll still be able to knock a man's head off when he hits him. They'll still pay off on that after the war."

Mike was asked if the champ told him "flatly over" the telephone that he did not mean to retire from the ring at this time—to relinquish his title formally.

"That's exactly what he said," Mike replied. "I wanted to know, because whenever he retires I can start an elimination tournament for the heavyweight title."

Mike's opinion is that Louis simply is too wrapped up in his army career at the moment to give much thought to fighting in the ring again—particularly since his bout with Billy Conn was called off. He feels it is a phase that would wear off quickly once the war is won.

BASEBALL DEALS

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds announced Tuesday the release of infielder Chuck Aleno and catcher Ben Wade to Birmingham, Ala., of the Southern Association and the transfer of catcher John Bottarini, up from Syracuse, to Sacramento in part-payment for the veteran Ray Mueller.

Willkie Carves Niche in History

"He has more important things to occupy his attention right now," said Edward Willkie at the Empress Hotel yesterday when newsmen asked him if his brother, Wendell, would run for the presidency of the United States in 1944.

"I am not in the habit of discussing my brother's political or personal affairs, but I will say this: 'Whether he becomes President of the United States or not, he will go down in history as a great American.'"

"Wendell," he said of his unpredictable brother, "is doing everything he can for the preservation of what we have in the United States, those ideals which we cherish more than life itself. The one thing which stands out more than anything else is his loyalty and sincerity of purpose."

Edward Willkie, tall, chunky and aggressively-chinned brother of Wendell Willkie, who today returned to Washington, D.C., from a fact-finding mission to the world's war fronts for President Roosevelt, left Victoria Tuesday after attending the 29th annual convention of the Association of Pacific Fisheries as vice-president of Libby, McNeill and Libby of Chicago.

When he learned that his famous brother had passed over Edmonton, Mr. Willkie commented naively: "He certainly does get around, doesn't he?"

Saanich Council Cuts School Request

A request of $1,525 from the Saanich School Board for supplementary expenditure was pared to $1,166 by the Saanich Council before authorizing its use by the School Board.

The School Board request said the supplementary estimate was designed to cover one month's wages and superannuation for teachers who had left to join the forces, a total of $947, war risk insurance on the 15 schools of the municipality which would total $319, added fuel costs totaling $215, and the remainder for the increased cost of transportation of pupils.

Councillor George Austin moved and the council authorized the funds to cover the first two items in the School Board's estimates. The council felt the other two items were something of which the board should have been aware when it submitted its annual estimates.

The municipal engineer was authorized to bring in a report on the expense that would be involved in obtaining a pump and pumping dry one well for a cleaning in the 10 Mile Point area. The well could be used as an emergency water supply should the water system be wrecked in event of an air raid.

The council also authorized the engineer and chairman of works to bring before the next meeting a proposed revised estimate of rental prices for municipal equipment. The engineer pointed out at the meeting that Saanich was renting its equipment for much lower prices than private concerns. If passed, the new prices will go into effect Nov. 1. A motion that all revenue from rental of municipal equipment be put in a fund for replacement of old equipment, was passed unanimously.

Robert Brydon will be paid $22.50 for the loss of 30 chickens, killed recently by dogs. Charles Eccleston, Beaver Lake Road, will be informed that the council will supply 200 feet of pipe, if priority can be obtained, to pipe water from the lake into his house. Mr. Eccleston had written the council asking that it install a water system.

An offer of $75 from A. Mason for a lot on Leslie Drive was refused. The council set the price at $100. An offer from M. F. Yerex of $40 for a lot on Brett Avenue assessed at $95 was refused.

Payment of $6.03 taxes on the hall of the Brentwood Sea Scouts was authorized.

Dairy Horse Bolts; Spills Load of Milk

Victoria's first horse and wagon "casualty" since this old mode of transportation began to reassert itself a few months ago, occurred at 6, Monday morning, when a Northwestern Creamery horse shied and overturned a wagon full of milk.

Constables Samuel McKenzie and Alex Robertson of the city force attended and found the wagon overturned on Linden at McKenzie, gallons of milk flowing along the nearby gutter.

Bill Cook, Kiser Avenue, the driver, said the horse shied for no apparent reason while trotting south on Linden Avenue and then started to bolt. He said he jumped at the first opportunity and watched the wagon continue until it struck a boulevard tree at McKenzie Street and overturned.

Several cases of milk were thrown out and the bottles smashed on the street. When police arrived the horse was standing by, quite unconcerned and unhurt.

R.C.N. dance orchestra—selections: "The Golden Band," "Sleepy Hollow"; novelty, "In a Clock Store"; march, "Sempre Fidelis"; hymn, "Eternal Father."

Royal Arcanum Greets Leader

Supreme regent, George W. Mercer, of New York, who is touring the councils throughout the American continent, visited the American Council, 1513 Royal Arcanum, Monday. He was accompanied by the Grand Regent for the Washington-Oregon-British Columbia council, Fred Anderson of Olympia, Wash., and Grand Secretary John Murphy of Seattle.

Mr. Mercer and his party were introduced to the council by Supreme Rep. Applegate who then turned the meeting over to Regent Fred Watkins.

"Preservation of Democracy Through Fraternity" was the Supreme Regent's theme, and he outlined in his speech the activities of the Royal Arcanum during the 65 years of its existence. An estimated $350,000,000 have been paid to the widows and orphans of the members of the 625 councils throughout America. War bonds and Victory bonds bought here and in the U.S. amount to $200,000 and the council holds an aggregate of $5,000,000 in government bonds.

The full degree of the order was conferred on Kenneth Walsh by the local council's championship degree team, headed by Past Regent Sid Hole. A recently organized juvenile department received five new members, all of the same family, whose father is a local member.

Mr. Mercer said the degree work put on by the local council which has about 200 members, was the best he had witnessed in his supreme jurisdiction of the order.

Emmanuel Anniversary

Following special 50th anniversary services held Sunday in Emmanuel Baptist Church an anniversary dinner was held Monday evening at which Rev. Dr. A. E. Whitehouse of Metropolitan United Church was the speaker.

The church choir contributed special numbers and solos were rendered by Miss Catherine Denison, Mrs. Charles Goodwin, H. C. Parfitt and G. H. E. Green.

The church had its beginning in 1884 as a Sunday school, but the present edifice at Fernwood Road and Gladstone Avenue was erected in 1892 under the pastorate of the late Rev. H. P. McEwen.

Will Help Beautify Saanich Schoolgrounds

At a well-attended meeting of the executive of the Society for Preservation of Native Plants of B.C., John Gough, school inspector for Saanich, thanked the society for their interest in the rural schools.

He expressed his pleasure at the promised gift of four sets of carving tools and the continuance of a year's subscription to the magazine Canadian Nature to eight of the schools in Saanich district. It was agreed that there should be an exhibition of nature study handicraft work in 1943, on the lines of the one held in the museum in June, 1941.

Many members promised to see what they could spare in the form of bulbs or shrubs to help

Mr. Gough in his efforts to make the school grounds more attractive.

The brief presented to the provincial council for postwar rehabilitation in July last was read in full.

The purpose of the brief was to point out that national welfare and rehabilitation of men were impossible without conservation and rehabilitation of natural resources.

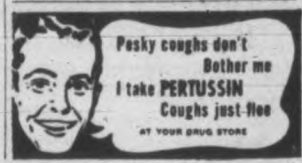

A letter will be sent to the Minister of Lands, Hon. Wells Gray, to associate the society with the efforts of other organizations to preserve Cathedral Grove.

When plans for a power dam are drawn up, detailed descriptions of the geology of the proposed site, with data on the character and structure of the rock formations, must be tabulated

HOW TO HELP WIN THE WAR WORK

We must roll up our sleeves and tighten our belt, Canada! We've had it too easy in these past three years of war. Now is the time to show that we have the determination and courage to fight. No matter what our job, we'll help to win this war if we give it everything we have. Fighting today includes working hard for our Country, our home and our right to survive as a free people.

SAVE

It's necessary that we save all we can. Spending on things we can do without, betrays Canada to the Axis. We can do without the frills. When we've won victory, we'll have the luxuries again. Right now, there's no better investment for any of us than to put what we save into Victory Bonds, enabling our Country to buy shells, tanks and bombers. That's the way to save Canada—to save all that matters.

LEND

What's your share of the savings job? Well, the average Canadian would have to lend to Canada to meet Canada's need $1 in every $5 of income left after taxes and compulsory savings have been collected. The average may not fit you. Your own circumstances are distinctly your own. You may be able to do better both out of your current income and out of your accumulated savings in the bank—or you may not be able to reach the average. Your share of voluntary savings is every dollar you can possibly spare.

Premier Hart Defers Dyking Area Levies

Capital levies on land in the dyking areas of the Fraser Valley will be deferred another year, a delegation from the valley was assured today by Premier John Hart.

The delegation, composed of representatives from Dewdney, Hatzie, Maple Ridge, Pitt Meadows, Sumas and Matsqui, was introduced by R. C. MacDonald, M.L.A., for Dewdney, and was accompanied by the dyking commissioner, Bruce Dixon.

It was pointed out to the government that capital levies had been deferred annually for several years but at the last session of the Legislature this legislation had been overlooked.

The delegation stated that the farming situation in the valley had not advanced materially. Prices of farm products remained more or less fixed but production costs had increased.

Premier Hart assured the delegation that collections on account would not be enforced this year.

U.S. Marines in Parade Opening Bond Drive Saturday

One hundred U.S. Marines, under the command of Capt. H. J. Chapman, will cross the border Saturday to take part in the parade of the services which will signalize the opening of the new Victory Loan drive.

Overhead a sweep of the Royal Canadian Air Force bombers and fighters will give thrills, color and emphasis to what the parade marshal, Commander R. P. Ponder, R.C.N.V.R., says will be the finest turnout of the fighting services ever seen in Victoria.

The navy will be represented by a band and 500 officers and ratings. Two bands and a large body of marching army men will be the vanguard of an exhibition of modern mechanized equipment. The air force will contribute three flights to the parade in addition to the aerial spectacle. Falling in at 2, at Hillside at Government and Douglas Streets, the parade will move off at 2:30, following the route of Douglas to Belleville, south to Government, thence west to dispersal point at Hillside.

Marchant, Tait Win Privateer Appeal

W. P. Marchant announced today he and David S. Tait had received a favorable decision from the Privy Council in the Privateer Mine dispute with H. P. Winsby.

Mr. Winsby had claimed one-third interest in the mine and one-third of the dividends, basing this claim on a partnership agreement with Mr. Tait and Mr. Marchant. He claimed this partnership was still in effect when Mr. Tait and Mr. Marchant obtained the mine.

The latter alleged the partnership had expired, their case being sustained in the Supreme Court of British Columbia except for a dispute over the Man o' War mine, in which Mr. Winsby's stand was upheld.

The issue subsequently went to the Court of Appeal where Mr. Marchant and Mr. Tait were sustained in toto. Mr. Winsby took the case to the Supreme Court of Canada, where the Appeal Court's decision was reversed.

Mr. Marchant and Mr. Tait appealed the decision to the Privy Council and by cablegram today were informed their appeal had been upheld.

2 Stores Entered; Fur Coats Stolen

Police believe it to be the same thief or thieves who entered and ransacked two Victoria stores Tuesday night.

At 8 this morning police received a call from Mrs. M. C. Currie reporting her store at 1447 Douglas had been entered and goods valued at $258.50 had been stolen. Detective William Richards found that a Chinese squirrel coat and a Canadian squirrel coat, valued at $165 and $90 respectively, had been stolen, also five pairs of lisle stockings valued at $3.50. Only 75 cents in cash was missing.

At 11:10 Tuesday night police investigated a breaking and entering at Fritchard's clothing store, Government, from which the thieves had been apparently scared away. Although nothing was missing, there were several bundles of clothes, ready for removal and the dial had been knocked off the safe.

James Bay Church Observes 50th Year

James Bay United Church will celebrate its 50th anniversary on Sunday and Monday next.

James Bay Church was founded through the Sunday school organized by the late David Spencer Sr., and held in the old Kingston Street schoolhouse in James Bay, of which Miss Annie Spencer, now Mrs. Grant, was the first superintendent.

The church building at the corner of Menzies and Michigan Streets, was erected in 1892.

Mr. Spencer was the moving spirit, but did not appear on the board of trustees, as he had purchased the large lot at the price of $2,600, which he made available to the trustees for erection of the edifice.

Rev. Mr. Watson, then pastor of the Pandora Methodist Church, acted as president of the board of trustees, the James Bay Methodist Church being in effect an offshoot from his church.

The James Bay Methodist Church was opened Aug. 28, 1892. Rev. Mr. Wilkinson, a young man beginning the ministry, was the first pastor.

The Spencer family composed the main part of the choir. Chris Spencer became the organist, and Miss Mary Spencer also presided.

at the organ for a time. All the 13 children of David Spencer, except Dave and Victor, have sung in the choir of James Bay Church. Many will remember the long line of pastors who presided over this church: Revs. Wilkinson, Robson (brother of the then Premier), McCrossan, Swinnerton, Hughes, Connor, Balderson, Dunham, D. W. Scott, Geo. Dean, McIntyre, Kinney, Miller, John Robson, Stapleford, Cook, W. M. Scott, Mawhinney, Saunby, D.D.; Best, Keyworth, Brown, Clarke, Sawyer, and the present Rev. J. C. Jackson.

In 1926, by virtue of church union, this church became the James Bay United Church of Canada.

A.R.P. Officials To Conduct Survey

A. J. Scott, K.C., fire marshal of Ontario and Dr. Howlett, an official of the Department of Health and Pensions, will arrive in Victoria Thursday to conduct a survey of A.R.P. fire and casualty facilities.

The visitors were sent to British Columbia by Dr. R. J. Manion, Dominion A.R.P. director, to conduct the survey in all Pacific coast municipalities, and are in Vancouver today. Thursday, in company with Insp. Stan. Moodie, A.R.P. chief for B.C., they will inspect facilities in Victoria and adjoining municipalities and go to Nanaimo late Thursday or Friday.

R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. Raid

Nazi Naval Base Keil Hit Heavily

LONDON (CP)—A bomber fleet of well over 100 planes, possibly up to 180, struck Kiel Tuesday night with a concentrated blast of explosives in a raid possibly as destructive as any of 70 which have been made against the Nazi-battered Baltic naval and U-boat base.

R.C.A.F. squadrons took a prominent part in the raid, which was carried out by a bomber command force of four-engined Lancasters, Stirlings and Halifaxes, and the smaller twin-engined Wellingtons.

Two-ton, block-destroying bombs as well as incendiaries were showered on the city's ship-building installations and dockyards and returning fliers reported many large fires were started.

Four R.C.A.F. squadrons, including the new French-Canadian unit making its third operational sortie over enemy territory, took part in the raid.

British sources said the results well compensated the R.A.F. for the loss of nine planes. The exact number in the raiding force was not disclosed, but on the basis of normal 5 per cent losses, probably 180 bombers were over the target, one of the most vital in Germany.

The attack was on the new "saturation" technique of the R.A.F.—which means throwing so many bombers over the objective in such a short time that anti-aircraft defences are swamped and their fire made relatively ineffective.

A German broadcast put British losses at 10 planes, but said that the North Sea port of Hamburg—linked by water with Kiel through the Kiel Canal—also was bombed during the night.

Kiel, 66 miles northeast of Hamburg, is important not only for its big docks and strategic position as a hub of water transport but as a centre for coal, iron and oil, lumber, railroad supplies, cement and food.

DROVE OFF FW190

The leaders of the French-Canadian squadron, Wing Cmdr. Joe St. Pierre of St. Eustache

Sur-le-Lac, Que., staved off an attack by a Focke-Wulf 190 before he reached the target.

In addition to the four Canadian squadrons at Kiel, the daily R.C.A.F. communiqué revealed, Canadian army co-operation aircraft were on offensive patrol over northern France Tuesday. Among the targets attacked was a large freight train which was damaged and put out of action near Etretat.

THEIR 22ND RAID

Canadians in the Kiel raid reported it was "a good show." It was the 22nd trip together for Flt. Sgt. Sylvestre Danahy of Riverside, N.B., a skipper, and Sgt. Gnr. Howard Bond of Darlington, Man., who have been chums since they started operational training overseas.

Both veterans of 1,000-bomber raids, they have been over Essen, Cologne, Emden, Duesseldorf, Frankfurt and Kassel.

"We were in about the middle of the show," Danahy related. "We could see our stuff breaking, the fires were so bright."

For four other Canadians it was their 17th trip together and one of their most successful. They were PO. J. R. McDonald of Toronto, the captain; Sgt. J. D. Routledge, Mississauga, B.C., rear-gunner; Sgt. Bomb Almer R. W. Wright, Saskatoon, and Sgt. J. G. Gibbs, Bowmanville, Ont., mid-upper gunner.

BLOCK-BUSTERS

"We dropped 4,000-pounders and incendiaries," McDonald said. "We had lots of time, too, because we went three times over the target to make sure of it. We didn't see one German fighter although it would be a good night for them."

Sgt. G. H. Lancaster of Michel, B.C., took his crew out for its second successive night.

Sgt. A. C. Walland of Watrous, Sask., flight engineer of one aircraft, said that after leaving the coast he could see the red glare of fires started by raiders reflected in the sky.

Sgt. Pilot C. C. Stovel of Calgary found the raid "not too bad," although the flak, which did not touch his machine, was "a bit hot."

He disregarded a shrapnel wound in the neck to press home the attack, after which he nursed his flak-riddled aircraft back to its base in England, where he made a perfect landing.

Chretien's navigator, Sgt. T. E. Carlon of Montreal, said "we owe a lot to George."

The story of Chretien's accomplishment was recounted in an R.C.A.F. press release, which listed his crew, in addition to Carlon, as Sgt. Jack Probert of Montreal, Sgt. Harold Reynolds of Pembroke, Ont.; Sgt. A. C. Collins of Calgary, Sgt. Wally Walsh of Long Island, N.Y., and Sgt. Paddy Moore, a northern Irishman, serving in the Canadian squadron.

"We were hit by flak just as we were running into the target area," Carlon said. "It was a fluke bit of shrapnel which hit George. I was sitting beside him when I heard the pitter-patter of the hit and George said, 'I've been hit.'"

"Probert, the bomb-aimer, helped bandage the neck wound. George was very calm and didn't worry a bit. We don't know how he managed to stick it out and bring us back right across the North Sea. It took real guts."

Chretien had been out on three flights with his crew mates. Kiel was their fourth raid together.

Word from the squadron was that he is making a "quick recovery" from the night's ordeal.

Duncan Chlorinated; Citizens Don't Notice

DUNCAN (CP)—The water supply of this city of more than 2,000 people has been chlorinated since spring and not one complaint has been registered, city officials said Tuesday.

Chlorination was recommended 18 months ago following tests made by officials of the Provincial Health Department and a modern plant was installed by the Nanaimo and Duncan Utilities Co., which furnishes water to the city. No increase in rates was made.

Jungle Romance Features Lamour

Bringing thrills, riotous comedy, wild jungle romance and beautiful Technicolor scenes, "Beyond the Blue Horizon," the new Dorothy Lamour jungle film, opens at the Atlas Theatre tomorrow.

It is a Lamour more exciting than she's ever been who appears in Paramount's "Beyond the Blue Horizon."

The antics of Jack Haley, the comedian, and a chimpanzee named Go-Go, are uproarious and add a bright supplement to the romantic scenes between Dorothy and Richard Denning, her new jungle sweetheart. And, in addition, there are many jungle thrill scenes.

DOMINION THEATRE

Betty Grable, that whirlwind blonde who's going places in Hollywood, is cast with John Payne for the first time since "Tin Pan Alley" in the new 20th Century-Fox hit musical at the Dominion Theatre, "Footlight Serenade."

Co-starred with the pair is handsome Vic Mature, who also is approaching the top in film-land. "Footlight Serenade" was directed by Gregory Ratoff, and produced by William LeBaron.

Courts to Recognize Welsh Language

LONDON (CP)—The House of Commons gave second reading today to a four-paragraph bill to end a grievance 400 years old.

The bill, presented by Home Secretary Herbert Morrison, will establish the right of any Welshman charged in a Welsh court to speak Welsh if he wishes instead of English. And in the future the cost of interpreters will be borne by public funds and not charged to the prisoner.

Ever since Henry VIII passed a statute in 1535 making English the language of the law, even in Wales, Welshmen have been indignant over what they regard as an injustice. More than 360,000 of them recently signed a petition (in English) objecting to the ruling.

Many Secret Raids

LONDON (CP)—Clement Attlee, Dominions Secretary, told the House of Commons Tuesday there has been "several, and there will be many" small-scale commando raids on the German-occupied coast of Europe about which the public will not be told.

Replying to a member who had asked whether the public had been kept fully informed about all raids carried out by Combined Operations, Attlee said large raids had been fully described "but there have been several and there will be many minor operations on the scale of trench raids in the last war about which normally nothing will be said."

Beurling Bags 3 More Nazi Planes

CAIRO (CP)—PO. George Beurling of Verdun, Que., one of the Empire's ace fighter pilots, shot down three enemy planes in a single battle of Malta Tuesday, including the 1,000th enemy plane destroyed over the George Cross island.

Canada's top-scoring pilot, Beurling raised his personal total to 26 enemy planes destroyed. All but two of them fell since he arrived in Malta in June.

Shooting down planes in batches is nothing new to the Quebec boy who since June has risen from sergeant to pilot officer and won the Distinguished Flying Medal and bar and the Distinguished Flying Cross.

before they were advised by the city officials. They had not noticed any difference. Officials say that if cold water is let run five seconds in the morning, it is impossible to distinguish the taste of treated water.

Kelowna, they say, has been chlorinating its water for two or three years without complaints from citizens of that Okanagan

'ACROSS PACIFIC' OPENS AT CAPITOL

The stars of "The Maltese Falcon," last season's outstanding Capitol Theatre hit, are reunited in "Across the Pacific," which opens today at the Capitol.

Humphrey Bogart, Mary Astor, Sydney Greenstreet and Director John Huston are again teamed in this new Warner Bros. adventure film which treats with the ruthless attempt of would-be Jap saboteurs to destroy the Gatun Locks of the Panama Canal.

The story is based on a Saturday Evening Post serial by Robert Carson. Richard Macaulay did the script.

Unique Love Plot In "Ball of Fire"

The hilarious romance of a college professor and a night club queen is the theme of "Ball of Fire," Samuel Goldwyn's new romantic comedy co-starring Garry Cooper and Barbara Stanwyck and coming tomorrow to the York Theatre.

Hailed as one of the funniest offerings in many years, the picture deals with the strange happenings that occur when the professor, one of a group writing a new encyclopedia, invites the singer to visit them so he can get some first-hand information on slang for an article in the forthcoming work.

The girl speedily upsets the lives of the eight professors, including that of her original sponsor, with whom she falls in love.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES

When Bud Abbott slaps Lou Costello in the face in "Pardon My Sarong," their newest Universal comedy, now playing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres, he doesn't pull the punch.

The cameras being used in Hollywood cannot be fooled by a fake slap, whereas when the boys are appearing on a theatre stage, the slap is not the real thing.

"Imagine how I felt when we had to take one slapping scene 14 times," recalled Costello, "who says we don't suffer for our art!"

Virginia Bruce, Lief Erikson, Lionel Atwill and Nan Wynn top the supporting cast of "Pardon My Sarong." Eric C. Kenton was the director.

RIO THEATRE

British movie favorite, John Clements, has given up trying to persuade producers to let him live in his films. They kill him off every time. He dies again in his latest, Michael Balcon's Fleet Air Arm film, "Ships With Wings," currently at the Rio Theatre. Now he gives his life raiding the Italians. He got killed in "Convoy," was choked to death in "Things to Come," shot himself in "Knights Without Armor," and was left with only a short time to live in "South Riding."

CADET THEATRE

A tropical storm at sea, rivalled only by the historic typhoon in "Hurricane," is given to theatre-goers in RKO Radio's comedy drama, "The Turtles of Tahiti," now at the Cadet Theatre, in which Charles Laughton is starred. Jon Hall and his brothers fight for their lives in the maelstrom of wind and water and emerge triumphant in one of the most spectacular scenes ever filmed.

Help for People 'Fixing Up' Home

As the fall season approaches, many people are casting a "weather eye" over their houses—checking up on the state of the roof and side walls, deciding what repair and maintenance work will be necessary, here and there, before winter sets in. But this year, conditions are different. Your Johns-Manville reporter has run across quite a few home owners recently who are more or less confused about just what they can and cannot do in the way of "fixing up" their homes, in view of wartime shortages.

Actually, there are still supplies of many kinds of materials required for maintenance work. For example, Johns-Manville dealers can fill many needs right out of their present stocks. So, if you want reliable advice on your particular problem, and prompt service, just call your J-M dealer, V.I. Hardwood Floor Company, 707 Johnson Street, G-7314.

spondent in Spain for the New York Times and The Times of London. With the publication of the retraction, Mr. Fernsworth is withdrawing a suit for $100,000 for libel against the Tablet.

The Tablet accusation was that Mr. Fernsworth had accepted money from the Loyalist government in Spain at the time of the civil war and that his writing had thereby been influenced. Also, that evidence of his connection with the Loyalist government had been gathered by agents of the British Foreign Office and led to his resignation from both the New York Times and The Times, London.

"One of the articles was by a correspondent writing from Spain and the other by an American priest," said the Tablet. "The Tablet has no evidence in its possession supporting the charges made and is therefore happy to withdraw the statements made concerning Mr. Fernsworth."

Mr. Fernsworth toured Canada just before the outbreak of the war, speaking in Victoria and other Canadian cities on international developments, particularly with reference to the Nazi-Fascist trend arising out of the civil war in Spain.

Tells Why Canadians Can Be Thankful

Speaking in the spirit of Thanksgiving, Rev. George Biddle of St. John's Church told the Kiwanis Club Tuesday that Canadians could be thankful for three things, that they lived in a land of plenty, that a new social order was coming into being in a quiet manner without the bloodshed of a quick revolution, and for their British sense of humor which would take them through the darkest hours.

He compared the comfort and security of Canada with the oppressed countries of Europe under the yoke of the Nazis, and asked that Canadians take the laws of God more seriously and not ignore his grace "at just births, weddings and funerals." One thing for which Canadians could thank the war, he said, was the coming of a new social order in which starvation and poverty would be left behind. Before Mr. Biddle spoke, Darrell Spence presented the Ah Humphries perpetual challenge golf trophy to Arthur Dowell.

LIFE INSURANCE IS THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

PROTECTION

...for the people
...by the people

IN peace time, peace of mind goes deep. Yet you can often see it in a face. You can usually tell when a man or woman has a sense of security. You can see it in the springy step of a doctor in Vancouver. You can see it in the calm eyes of a farmer on the Prairies. You can feel it in the firm grip of a miner in Sudbury. You can hear it in the untroubled voice of a school teacher in Quebec. You can sense it in the quiet heartiness of a store clerk in Halifax.

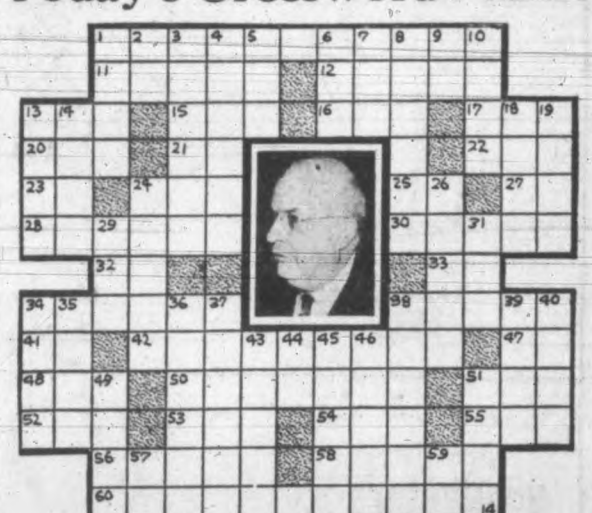

Men and women who enjoy the financial security of life insurance are typical Canadians... if you can call four million people typical. Some are young, some are middle-aged, some are old. Most of them are wage-earners and people of moderate means. Life insurance came into existence because these people needed protection, and its assets in Canada... now over two billion dollars... are owned by the people it serves. Each one of you protects the other, and as you protect each other, so you protect yourselves and the nation.

Right now, peace of mind and protection depend on victory. That is why you should work, save and lend to the limit of your ability. Put every dollar you can into War Savings is the advice of your life insurance companies who have invested millions of your premium savings in war loans to buy the tools of victory.
